Attlee Asks Probe For Trade Board On Alleged Bribe

Investigation Said Separate From Inquiry by Scotland Yard

LONDON, Oct. 8 (CP).—Prime Minister Attlee tonight called for a full-dress investigation into allegations that soccer gambling money has been used to influence the Board of Trade.

A statement from 10 Downing Street said a motion for a full judicial inquiry will be laid before Parliament October 26. The statement said allegations have been made "that money obtained from a member of a firm of football-pool promoters had been used to influence the course of action of the Board of Trade."

London newspapers for the last few weeks have hinted at a black market of important licence sanctions in high places.

The Board of Trade has over-all responsibility for British industry and commerce. It licenses industrial exports and imports. It rations clothes and furniture and controls prices on consumer goods.

LOOKING INTO CASE

The Prime Ministry statement said Lord Jowitt, the Lord Chancellor and Britain's highest legal officer, is looking into the case at the request of Harold Wilson, Board of Trade President.

Also to be investigated, the statement said, is "allegation that in return for a substantial payment of cash, facilities for the import of equipment for fun fairs (carnivals and amusement arcades) could be obtained."

A junior minister, John W. Belcher, was named in Attlee's statement. Belcher agreed there was a doubt he a full investigation.

Under parliamentary motion, select committees or royal commissions with sweeping powers of investigation can be set up. These powers override the protection afforded to Members of Parliament by parliamentary privilege.

LINK DENIED

Speculation during the last week linked the Lord Chancellor's investigation with a "black market" in textiles and other goods. The official statement, however, said:

"No other alleged irregularity has been before the Government nor has the Lord Chancellor's inquiry been concerned with any investigations which have been, or are being, carried out by the police and by the Board of Trade investigation staff in the course of their normal duties into so-called black market activities."

Belcher, mentioned in the statement, is a tall, slim economics expert who once was a professional boxer. Forty-three years old, he is married and has a son and two daughters. He has been parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade since 1946.

He is on record as disliking Government controls. In one speech he said that: "they are still almost as incomprehensible to me as they were when they were first put before me."

Miami Streets Hit by Hurricane

A pocket-sized hurricane bore down on Miami, Fla., riding in on 120-mile-an-hour gust of wind which swept the ocean through parts of the city. Picture shows a group of boys having a fine time in one of the city streets inundated by the sea water. The city was prepared for the blow and 99 storm shelters were open, ready to receive occupants, when the storm burst on the city.

Chest Yield To Date Said $8,172

Greater Victoria Community Chest officials announced late yesterday afternoon that $8,172 had been turned in since the campaign opened on Monday.

The total represents the actual amount turned in to Prince Robert House headquarters up to yesterday afternoon, and co-chairmen of the drive say "this is not to be taken as any indication as to the manner in which the fund is progressing."

They report the method of collection adopted this year is such that substantial results cannot be expected until some time next week.

Prospects "were never more encouraging," and an army of canvassers is now in the field, officials said. Practically all of these report they are receiving "substantial and sympathetic support" from the general public.

Fire Fighter Lost on Lake

WINNIPEG, Oct. 8 (CP).—A youth fighting forest fires in the Lake of the Woods area is lost and believed drowned, first fatality reported since bush fires went on the rampage more than week ago.

Ontario Provincial Police tonight were dragging for the body of John Serbisha, 18, of Norman, Ont., in Kilvert Lake, 30 miles south of Kenora.

The youth had been returning to a temporary overnight camp Thursday when his small boat capsized.

Forestry officials predicted that barring a return to high winds, fires in both Northwestern Ontario and Manitoba would be "under control within a few days."

Manitoba's chief forestry protection officer, T. W. Scharfenbuch, said that "weather still will be the deciding factor and should strong winds return considerable action will again be needed."

In Manitoba's interlake district, where several villages were threatened by fast-traveling fires earlier this week, most volunteer fire fighters have returned to their homes.

Argentinian Seeking Berlin Compromise

PARIS, Oct. 8 (AP).—Foreign Minister Juan Bramuglia of Argentina talked privately with Andrei Y. Vishinsky today in a desperate bid for a face-saving compromise between East and West on Berlin. An Argentine source said "the negotiations are going along perfectly."

After his secret conversation with the Russian chief delegate Vishinsky, Bramuglia scheduled a night meeting with another Russian leader —Dmitri Z. Manuilsky, Foreign Minister of the Soviet Ukraine.

Bramuglia pushed his peace efforts as State Secretary Marshall of the United States was quoted by the American Embassy as saying: "If there ever was, in time of peace, a threat to peace," it is the Berlin blockade.

The embassy said Marshall told a group of labor leaders of Western Germany that there had been a long series of provocative acts since last March in Berlin and that "almost any one of these acts — 30 years ago — could have been the basis for a serious break."

There was no word on the scope of the talks undertaken by Bramuglia in his role as president of the United Nations security council.

RELAXES ILENCE

Diplomats noted that Vishinsky relaxed his silence on the Berlin case long enough to go over it with Bramuglia. Last Tuesday Vishinsky told the council he would not take part in its deliberations on Berlin and he sat mute through two Wednesday sessions on the explosive issue. The Ukraine adopted the same tactic.

Bramuglia began trying to find a compromise after the three Western Powers completed their case against Russia Wednesday, charging that Soviet Union with creating a threat to world peace.

Bramuglia was said to be trying to work out a compromise along the lines of having the Russians lift their Berlin blockade long enough to permit the four-power foreign ministers to try to reach agreement on other disputed points in Germany.

The British - American - French stand is that there can be no negotiations for a Berlin settlement under force or a threat of force, in other words, the blockade.

Full Relations With Spain Urged for U.S.

MADRID, Oct. 8 (AP).—Eric A. Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Producers' Association of America, urged full American diplomatic relations with Spain today after a talk of two and a half hours with Generalissimo Franco.

Johnston was the third prominent American in little more than a week who has talked with Franco and urged closer diplomatic relations. The others were Senator Chan Gurney (R., S.D.) and the United States Senate armed forces committee, and James A. Farley, former Democratic national chairman.

(The American ambassador was recalled in 1946 when the United States went along with a United Nations Assembly resolution to withdraw top-level diplomatic representation in Madrid.)

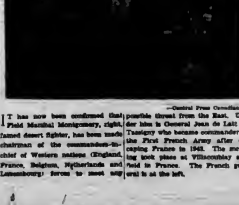

Johnston also told newspapermen he had been given assurances by Foreign Minister Alberto Martin Artajo that the American film, "Gentleman's Agreement," would be shown in Spain after a few possible deletions.

He said Artajo told him: "It was Spain's policy and our Christian doctrine to promote goodwill and understanding and love amongst all people irrespective of race and creed. This specifically included Jews."

(A Board of Censors source in Madrid said last week the film was banned in Spain because it condoned divorce, showed no difference between Jews and Christians and contained theological errors.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP). — President Truman and State Secretary Marshall may review policy toward Franco Spain here tomorrow.

No. 1 and No. 2 in Western Army

—Central Press Canadian

I has now been confirmed that Field Marshal Montgomery, right, famed desert fighter, has been made chairman of the commanders-in-chief of Western nations (England, France, Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg) forces to meet any possible threat from the East. Under him is General Jean de Lattre de Tassigny who became commander of the First French Army after escaping France in 1945. The meeting took place at Villacoublay airfield in France. The French general is at the left.

Rotten Bridge Timbers Rouse Sooke Residents

Timbers in three bridges in Sooke used by school buses are "rotten," and a second brief on the danger of the old structures will be presented soon to the Provincial Government.

Officials of the Sooke Liberal Association made the statements about the bridges yesterday and said they are calling a public "indignation" meeting of all Sooke organizations to ask co-operation in a protest movement.

BRIEF LAST YEAR

A brief on the condition was presented more than a year ago but so far nothing major has been done by the Government, association officials said. They explained that $100,000 was voted last session for work, including replacement of the wooden bridges with three new steel structures, which has not been done.

The three bridges are Tugwell, Muir Creek and Sandstone bridges, officials said. Loads of logs and other heavy logging trucks and ordinary traffic.

Asked for action timbers in the three bridges," P. G. Gray, an association executive member, said, "And Sandstone bridge has a cable attached to a tree for support."

Executive of the Liberal Association is M. Sherrard, Mrs. R. Robertson, Mr. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. George Duncan, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Derreche and C. Baker.

Navy Reserve May Move Aboard Ship

New headquarters for the Victoria branch of the Royal Canadian Navy Reserve will be the commissioned R.C.N. warship, it was learned yesterday.

Negotiations to procure a frigate for the branch have been under way for several months now, and Commander J. S. Scherbatskoy, head of the reserves in Victoria, who will return Monday from a Navy Commanding Officers' convention in Ottawa, may bring news of the ship—probably a frigate—to be used.

The shift to floating headquarters is expected to be made within two weeks.

Eden Asks Foreign Policy Satisfactory to Empire

LLANDUDNO, Wales, Oct. 8 (Reuters).—Anthony Eden, Britain's wartime Foreign Minister, today told the annual Conservative party conference that British foreign policy should pursue three immediate objectives which might be called the "three utilities."

These were:

1. Unity within the British Commonwealth and Empire.

2. Unity with Western Europe.

3. Unity across the Atlantic.

In a speech that was loudly cheered and unanimously endorsed by the conference, Eden, deputy leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, said:

"Only a successful foreign policy can be pursued in this country which is not based on the full approval and co-operation of our partners in the Commonwealth and Empire overseas."

"SOMBRE" VIEW

Winding up a debate on foreign affairs, Eden had been by saying that he took "a very sombre view" of the present international outlook.

"We have seen the Soviet Government parties in its policies by two methods—by seeking to undermine the authority of a state from within, and by a direct challenge to accepted international agreement," he said.

Truman May Send Jurist To Talk With Stalin; Marshall Opposes Move

Report Move From White House; Secretary of State Returning

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (AP).—The Chicago Tribune says that President Truman is considering sending Chief Justice Fred Vinson to Moscow to talk with Prime Minister Stalin and that State Secretary Marshall is returning from Paris to "back up in person his opposition" to the proposal.

The plan was developed in the White House without consultation of the Secretary of State," The Tribune said. "It was advanced as a dramatic move to attempt to solve the Berlin crisis . . ."

Marshall left Paris tonight for Washington to talk with President Truman and is has been understood that he would report on the progress of the United Nations sessions in Paris.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (CP).—The Capitol was alive with reports today—but not distinct — rumours, the State Department intervened after the White House had begun scrapping for radio time and it was finally decided that State Secretary Marshall should return from Paris to confer with the President about the matter.

BULLETINS

Many Hurt

MOSCOW, Oct. 9 (Saturday) (AP).—Moscow radio said early today that more than 6,000 persons injured in an earthquake October 5 in the city of Ashkhabad had been flown to hospitals in other cities in the region. Others are being evacuated by train.

Boat Wrecked

The boat Stranger, missing since Wednesday, has been found with its dinghy, wrecked on the beach at Stingray Channel, on Seymour Inlet, according to a radio message from Warrenton Bay received here. The boat was badly damaged and no crew was found of the crew. A search party will leave Warrenton Bay this morning.

Call for Help

CORDIAN, Alaska, Oct. 9 (AP).—Two sunnery tenders with a total of ten men aboard, caught in heavy seas off Cape Cordova, sent out radio calls for help today. The Coast Guard cutter Spencer, the vessels, en route to Seattle, are the tenders Seabeck and Nora.

Full Text of Federal Fire Report

OTTAWA, Oct. 8 (CP).—The full text of the report of the royal commission investigating the fire which destroyed the Parliament Buildings here February 3, 1916, was released today by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

The report, which was made to the House of Commons by Justice Minister Garson, was tabled in the House by Speaker Gladstone Murray.

The commission, headed by Mr. Justice Thomas G. Roberts, found that the fire was caused by "the act of some person or persons unknown."

Aldermen to Discuss New Highway Policy

City policy on the proposed new six-lane highway into Victoria is scheduled to be discussed by City Council Tuesday, with agreement to co-operate with the Provincial Government.

"As far as possible, we are prepared to co-operate with the Government," Ald. Dr. J. D. Hunter, public works committee chairman, said last night.

Ald. Hunter and Mayor Percy K. George conferred after a meeting recently with Works Minister F. C. Carson that the Government is suggesting that the city pay for the right-of-way and the Government pay for the highway.

This policy suggestion will be placed before council for discussion.

Main point in city reaction is how much it will cost to obtain the right-of-way.

The new road would eliminate the present dangerous stretch between the city and Saanich. While the new route has been announced, it has been reported that the highway will have four traffic lanes and two parking lanes and will be 62 feet wide.

Ald. Hunter and the Mayor arranged the meeting with Mr. Carson to straighten out misunderstandings about who should start the project rolling. The city and Province had both claimed the other was responsible for delays.

Siberian Pact Held Not Valid By Russians

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP).—United States State Department officials said today that Russia repudiated last May an agreement with the United States "excluding" temporary visits of American Eskimos to the Siberian mainland.

Officials said the State Department was notified of the Soviet action at the time and advised to inform the Eskimos affected. In Seattle, the Post-Intelligencer reported that 17 Eskimos who visited the island of Big Diomede on the Siberian side of Bering Strait, were held for two months by Soviet officials. The paper said the incident was due to the failure of the State Department to notify the Eskimos of the fact that the agreement was no longer enforced.

The agreement was made in March, 1936. Its purpose was to give official sanction for Eskimo trips to be made without the necessity of obtaining visas or going through other official formalities. Last May the Russians notified Washington that they considered the agreement no longer valid.

Tells Rebel Woodworkers Not to Defy Court Order

VANCOUVER, Oct. 8 (CP).—Chief Justice Wendell S. Farris warned rebel woodworkers today he would not allow them to defy a Supreme Court order freezing assets of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.) district here.

In an extension of the injunction issued Monday on the request of Mayor Fielding, I.W.A. president, the Chief Justice granted I.W.A. officers permission to enter the district offices.

District officers, who broke from the International union and formed the Woodworkers Industrial Union of Canada, had refused to admit their offices to the sheriff.

Chief Justice Farris commented that it was defiance of the court if the sheriff was refused entrance because a few words were omitted from the injunction."

The extended injunction also restrains former officers of I.W.A., Vancouver Local 1-217, from dealing with or disposal of I.W.A. funds.

Mr. Justice Farris also granted Attorney John Stanton leave to serve James Fielding and Harold Winn, international representatives of the I.W.A., with a notice of a writ issued out of Supreme Court.

Stanton appeared for Bert Marshall, former chairman, who claims some $1,700 for services rendered the I.W.A. by the Trade Union Research Bureau of Vancouver.

While legal aspects of the tangle are being thrashed out, both the I.W.A. and the newly-formed Woodworkers Industrial Union are battling for membership of the province's loggers and mill workers.

Fielding announced a delegate conference may be held in Vancouver soon to name new district officers.

Troops Battle French Miners In Coal Tie-Up

PARIS, Oct. 8 (AP).—Spreading strong-arm policy tactics used in France's Communist-called five-day-old coal strike and one person was killed and 15 injured.

The strike spread to ports and mines in the Nord department ordered coke oven operators back to work, under threat of fines and jail terms if they refused.

Most prolonged fighting was in the Lens area, where 1,700 troops battled striking coal miners with clubs and tear gas for five hours.

The troops fought into the Michelle steel mill which had been occupied by striking coal miners. But the strikers finally reoccupied the mill. Eight soldiers and two strikers were injured. The strikers captured seven soldiers, but later released them unharmed. The strikers had occupied the mill in order to prevent any of their number going back to work at his coke oven.

Police also drove striking railroad workers out of the station in Chalons-sur-Marne, but no casualties were reported.

Span Accident Injures Man

SEATTLE, Oct. 8 (AP).—A span on a Seattle bridge popped open suddenly today, injuring one man and endangering 30 others.

Two men slid 200 feet to safety down the upended sidewalk.

One workman was taken to hospital suffering from shock and bruises.

U.K. Firm May Build Island Mill

Feasibility of construction of a newsprint mill by British interests on Vancouver Island was reported in Vancouver yesterday.

The report said Bowaters, one of the United Kingdom's largest companies, is considering building on the West Coast of Vancouver Island between Nootka and Quatsino Sounds.

Sir Eric Bowater, head of the English firm, now is in Montreal where he announced his company is considering an expanding policy. He is president of the Bowaters' Newfoundland Pulp and Paper Mills Ltd.

British Columbia now has seven companies in the pulp and paper industry and nine mills, representing capital investment of more than $200,000,000.

Eastern Arctic Outposts All Supplied for Winter

OTTAWA, Oct. 8 (CP).—The igloos and the storm-proofed huts of the Eskimos of Northern Canada are stocked up for the Arctic Winter.

The Resources Department reported today that the supply missions to Eastern Arctic posts now are the most complete since the establishment of the service.

The department said the Ice Hunter, a sealing vessel chartered by the Hudson Trading Co., was the first of the vessels carrying Government supplies to return south after completing her mission in Hudson Bay and the east coast of Hudson Bay.

Close Guesser Admires His Prize

—Colonist Photo

GRAND door prize of Lions Club's recent annual Autumn carnival at Bay Street Armoury was beautiful combination radio and record player, won by Earle F. Lehman, 637 Niagara Street. He won contest with closest guess as to number of seeds in huge pumpkin. He guessed there were 607 seeds and actual count was 606. Radio was presented to Mr. Lehman yesterday at Empress Hotel luncheon meeting of the service club. He is pictured above admiring prize. Standing are Don Riome, general chairman of carnival committee, at left, and Clarence Johns, president of Lions Club. As result of carnival, club now has $2,217 gained for its various charities.

Emigration Discussions Seen as Delicate Issue

LONDON, Oct. 8 (CP)—Commonwealth Prime Ministers, who assemble here next Monday, will walk delicate ground when they discuss emigration from the United Kingdom.

The older Dominions, especially Canada, Australia and New Zealand, are interested in developing the flow of emigration and all would like to welcome more Britons.

The United Kingdom is only moderately enthusiastic. Basically, the Labor Government, like previous administrations, favors the movement of people within the Commonwealth. Emigration fortifies the association of Commonwealth countries and in times past the United Kingdom assisted large-scale movement of men and women from these shores.

Now Government spokesmen say that encouragement still is given emigration within the limits imposed by shortage of shipping space and the lack of sufficient housing accommodation in the Dominions.

But they agree that if the ships and houses are available, the United Kingdom would have to apply a check on emigration, especially in respect to skilled workers who are essential to the recovery program but who would be welcome in any Dominion.

"One must not rush into ideas of carting masses of people away from these islands," said Patrick Gordon-Walker, Commonwealth relations under-secretary, in a recent statement.

"The problem cannot be settled quickly because it contains extremely complex problems of strategy and balance of population."

Police Probing Fund Soliciting

Complaint of an unauthorized man soliciting funds for the Trades and Labor Congress convention that starts Monday, was received by city police last night from Percy Rayment, president of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council.

Police investigated and found that a man had called at the Strathcona Cafe at 7:30 o'clock last night and sought to sell an advertisement for $10.

He is reported to have identified himself as a member of the Boilermaker's Union, and said the cash would go to defray expenses of the convention.

Thousands Due Here On Holiday

Victorians taking to the roads or traveling to the Mainland today to enjoy the Thanksgiving week-end will meet thousands of holiday-makers on their way here.

To take care of the two-way rush T.C.A. officials said last night they have added 40 flights between Victoria and the Mainland. C.P.R. officials said extra daily steamships had been scheduled between Victoria, Nanaimo and Vancouver during the week-end. Vancouver Island Coach Lines are expected to add extra buses to Up-Island runs today to handle increased traffic.

It was reported from Vancouver last night a "mass exodus" of thousands of holiday-seekers was cramming every means of transportation in order to spend the Thanksgiving week-end on Vancouver Island. A C.P.R. official said traffic to the Interior was also heavy, but additional facilities were not required to handle it.

AID CIVIL AVIATION

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 8 (CP).—C. R. McGregor, president of Trans-Canada Air Lines, said tonight that Canada and her friends among the nations should encourage civil aviation as a means of keeping peace.

B.C. Vessel Believed Lost In Storm Wake

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 8 (CP).—The 112-foot motorship Malibu Inez, out of Princess Louisa Inlet, B.C., with 12 persons aboard, is feared lost today in the wake of a tropical storm off the tip of Cape San Lucas, 800 miles south of here.

The 103-ton vessel, owned by Hamilair Limited, sent out an SOS last night. The commercial vessel Empire State covered the distress area and reported no sign of the Malibu Inez, the Coast Guard said.

The Malibu Inez, owned by Hamiltair Ltd., was under charter from the company's Beverley Hills office.

Packers Vote Against Union

Employees of Swift Canadian Company in Vancouver have voted against the United Packinghouse Workers of America acting as their bargaining agents, the Labor Relations Board announced yesterday.

The union had been certified as the bargaining authority, but the board was advised that it no longer enjoyed the confidence of the workers.

A vote, supervised by officers of the board, then was taken. The men were asked whether or not they desired the union to represent them in collective bargaining. The majority voted in the negative, a statement from the board said.

Reeve Raps Foreigners Who Aim at Disruption

Foreigners who have come here from Middle Europe seek to disrupt and disunite Canadian society, Reeve A. I. Thomas of Esquimalt, said last night.

Addressing 126 members of the League of Roses, a new organization whose membership is drawn from persons from Yorkshire and Lancashire, he charged them to maintain their identity by creating a strong tradition that would carry on after them.

He said he had "seen these people come into this country to participate in the freedom you have given," only to become forces for disruption later.

He pointed to the recent conflict in the International Woodworkers of America as an example.

"Take a look at the names of the men responsible for that upheaval," he said.

Mr. Thomas told of building a house in Esquimalt shortly after the last war. He said he found that a foreigner on the municipal council, who had been in Canada 16 years and a naturalized citizen, "was telling the rest of us what to do."

"I wouldn't stand for it," the reeve said. "That's why I'm there now."

Before concluding his address, he told the audience he was Welsh, and thanked the Yorkshire and Lancashire audience for listening to what he smilingly called "a foreigner."

Saying that he knew the League had dedicated itself to combatting polio, Mr. Thomas said he had dedicated himself to Mr. Green, the arthritis practitioner from Port Alberni, whose claims of an arthritis cure were recently refuted by a Government-appointed committee of doctors and laymen.

Mr. Thomas called the Government report "silly" and "untrue," asking if anyone had ever seen a doctor support something that doctors had nothing to do with.

He urged members to take a keen interest in local affairs and not to hold themselves too closely to their policy of being a non-sectarian and non-political club if it kept them from giving attention to municipal affairs.

M.P., Legion Aid U.K. Seaman In Fight to Remain in Canada

EDMONTON, Oct. 8 (CP).—A Member of Parliament and a 4,000-member veterans' organization tonight joined the fight to keep in Canada a 24-year-old British merchant seaman who jumped ship to marry his sweetheart of six years.

Pat Ashby, Social Credit Member of Parliament for Edmonton East, today appealed to Resources Minister MacKinnon on behalf of Kenneth Darling who left his job and three months pay on the Queen Mary to enter the Dominion.

A second wire from the Edmonton Montgomery Branch of the Canadian Legion was sent to the Dominion Command asking it to intercede for Darling so he may come to Edmonton to marry Eileen Newnham, 20-year-old British immigrant, who has not seen her sweetheart since last February.

"Circumstances indicate Darling acted impulsively but not with wilful intent," Mr. Ashby's telegram said. "His honest and voluntary surrender (at Emerson, Man.) shows his character."

Both Mr. Ashby and the Montgomery branch said Darling was the best possible sort of immigrant.

Mr. Ashby said that "if his medical condition proves no barrier, then it is requested that red tape be immediately slashed and the man released," and the Legion echoed that Darling is a "boy who needs a break."

Darling waited in immigration custody at Emerson for action by immigration officials in Ottawa who promised to "announce a decision as quickly as possible."

Eileen and her family came to Canada from England early this year and since that time Darling has made several attempts to join them. When he and the Newnhams applied for permission to emigrate Darling was refused after a spot on one of his lungs was found in an X-ray plate.

Eileen said further X-rays showed the spot had not become worse but he still was refused an entry permit. She said the medical defects may have been the result of war injury received in the bombing and torpedoing of several vessels.

Steelworkers Make Goal Family Needs

TORONTO, Oct. 8 (CP).—The United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.), with a weather eye on the climbing cost of living, decided today not to state its 1949 wage goal in dollars and cents.

C. H. Millard, union national national director, said at a press conference that the objective will be "a minimum subsistence for the steelworker's family," based on a 40-hour week.

The decision was taken at the opening session of the union's two-day national policy committee, attended by representatives of the 167 Canadian locals. The conference was closed to the press.

SET PATTERN

The steelworkers, who claim a 40,000 membership, traditionally set the wages-and-hour pattern for a large part of Canadian labor.

Two other goals for negotiations next Spring are elimination of wage differentials as between steel plants in various parts of the Dominion and an "adequate" basic pension plan applicable throughout the industry.

The union last year adopted a basic $45-a-week objective, based on the 1647 subsistence budget of the Toronto Welfare Council. Cleve Kidd, union research director, estimated the 6.6 per cent rise in the cost of living since December, 1947, would boost the welfare council figure to $48.50.

Mr. Millard said the conference considered that report today.

"However, the feeling was that if we mentioned $48.50 as our goal, and in the meantime the cost of living climbed, employers might say next Spring that we were changing our tune.

"With the present swiftly-changing situation, we feel we should ask when the times comes for what we need at that time. And we certainly think that by next Spring it will require more than $48.50 to give the steelworker and his family a decent standard of living."

Steal $3,200, Police Arsenal

WHITBY, Ont., Oct. 8 (CP).—Provincial Police searched the Central Ontario area today for a gang of thugs who stole $1,200 in cash and $2,000 in cheques from a safe in East Whitby Township municipal offices and armed themselves with the entire arsenal of the Provincial Police office in the building.

The money was taken from a 450-pound safe, which was wheeled out of the office and loaded onto a waiting truck or car. The safe also contained township records, Fred Wilson, township clerk, said.

Taken from the police office were a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun, a .22 calibre rifle, a .32 calibre revolver, a .45 calibre Colt revolver and a .38 calibre police special revolver. Also missing are several hundred rounds of ammunition for the weapons.

Police believe the robbers are experienced, and wore gloves, for no finger prints were found.

Special Steel Coupling Interests Technicians

A large steel coupling is attracting the interest of technicians supervising construction of the B.C. Electric's $22,000,000 power development at Bridge River.

According to a company announcement, couplings of the kind used on the Bridge River project have never before been used on a similar development.

Installation of the couplings that must withstand pressures of 950 pounds to the inch, required that a special contract be let to a firm in Pennsylvania.

When two of the project's giant pipe sections — each weighing 30 tons — are laid end to end, it takes four men four hours to tighten the couplings to the satisfaction of the precision experts from the Dresser Coupling Corporation of Bradford, Pennsylvania.

The men use 90 bolts, 16 inches long, and since pressure must be applied evenly to guard against misfits, the men each take a quarter of the coupling, working in unison so that each bolt is tightened the same amount.

Quebec Action On Labrador May Be Taken

QUEBEC, Oct. 8 (CP).—Premier Duplessis of Quebec said tonight he believed his Government could sue for adjustments in the line of demarcation between Quebec and Newfoundland in Labrador, a matter taken to the Privy Council for decision in 1927.

The Premier, who told a press conference of his recent trip by air to Ungava, said that anyone who "sees the boundary line cannot but arrive at the conclusion that there are adjustments to be made on this subject." He referred to Newfoundland as a "colony."

"I regret to say," he said, "that some time ago the Federal authorities without consulting Quebec, which is not a colony, discussed with the apparent representatives of Newfoundland the delimitation of the frontier" in Labrador.

"It seems to me that elementary courtesy dictates that the pioneer Province of Quebec is treated with consideration by an administrative authority which owes much of its existence to Quebec.

"In any event," he continued, "the people of Quebec can be sure that we will employ, with courtesy, the proper action to protect and safeguard the rights of the province."

Pay Corps Body Forms Sub-Branch

A Victoria Sub-Branch, of the Royal Canadian Army Pay Corps Association was organized this week.

Capt. G. P. Hilliard was elected president. Other officers are Col. M. W. Turner and Lt.-Col. H. C. Barstow, honorary presidents; Capt. J. N. Bell, vice-president, and Capt. J. O. Elmsley, secretary-treasurer.

The group named Lt.-Col. Barstow, Col. J. O. Gillan and Capt. H. R. Rosch as delegates to the Vancouver Sub-Branch.

Members agreed to meet again in about a month, at a place and time to be decided on.

JUMPING CLASSES

Riding and jumping classes now are being held at the Willows cattle barn, J. N. Findlay, president of the Victoria Riding Academy and Hunt Club, said yesterday.

Mr. Findlay said classes are held Tuesday and Thursday evenings. He said good exhibitions of jumping can be seen at the Willows every Wednesday night.

Organizer of Eagles Praises Victoria Aerie

The Victoria Eagles have the finest aerie in North America, M. L. Brown, managing organizer of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, said at the meeting of district officers and presidents of British Columbia aeries in Hotel Vancouver.

"Victoria Aerie No. 12 has 37 standing committees," he noted, "More than any other two aeries of comparable size."

Three Veterans Transferred From Crowded City Hospital

Because of crowded conditions in Victoria's Veterans' Hospital three single men have been transferred to the George Derby Health and Occupational Centre in Burnaby according to E. H. Okell, assistant district administrator of the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

Mr. Okell said the three men consented voluntarily to the transfer. They were Class 6 patients for whom active treatment is not necessary.

With between 180 and 190 patients now in Victoria Veterans' Hospital, it is considered to be operating close to capacity. Mr. Okell said the hospital had a capacity of 220 but was considered full when caring for 200 patients.

Early last month Mr. Okell stated it might become necessary to transfer Class 6 patients to Burnaby. He said his office would endeavor to bring the new policy into effect as gradually as possible.

"The hospital was intended as an active treatment hospital for veterans in this subdistrict, which consists of Vancouver Island and adjacent islands," he said. "We have been caring for Class 6 cases also, but the time has arrived when these beds are required for active treatment cases so that it will be necessary to send some Class 6 and possibly some Class 5B to Burnaby."

Mr. Okell said special consideration would continue to be given patients wishing to remain in Victoria.

"The determining factor will be residence, family ties and physical condition," he advised. "Care will be taken to ensure that there will be mutual understanding and agreement in the carrying out of this now necessary procedure."

HELP ON BUSES

Members of the Kiwanis Junior School Safety Patrol now are working on school buses to maintain order and generally assist drivers, Constable Ike Duncan, city police director of the system, said yesterday.

Constable Duncan said patrol members will ride on buses transporting students to and from Victoria West School and other schools in District No. 61.

Main task of the patrol will be to keep discipline in the bus, such as keeping the aisle clear of lunch buckets and parcels, and preventing students from hanging out bus windows. Patrol members also will assist youngsters leaving the buses.

UNBURY IN SHAME

A wanting salor early yesterday morning apparently jigged when he should have segued, according to a city police report.

Police said the sailor fell through a large plate glass window in a Broad Street store. The window was pulled, some eggs in the window damaged, but the rating received navy a scratch.

Appearing in police court on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place, he pleaded guilty and was fined $10. It also is understood he undertook to pay for the window near future.

Transmitter Hidden in City To Be Traced

Amateur radio enthusiasts will try out their home-made equipment on Sunday when they take part in a city-wide hunt for a hidden transmitter.

The Victoria Short Wave Club learned at its meeting last night plans for the hunt were complete. The transmitter, to be hidden somewhere within the three-mile circle has been tested and found satisfactory.

The club will give prizes for quickest location by mobile crews and most accurate bearings from other operators. The hidden transmitter will start sending at 2 p.m. and will continue at intervals until found. It will operate at approximately 3,780 kilocycles.

Alec Stewart is in charge of the contest and invited everyone interested to phone him at G 2786.

The last time a similar contest was held in Victoria was in the spring.

At the club meeting last night Gordon Erglish demonstrated an electrically-operated indicator for a rotary aerial. The first issue of the club's monthly bulletin was distributed.

Members were told that plans for painting the clubhouse were going ahead, and that work on the roof already had been started. They laid plans for a social evening in the near future.

Outside Work, Begun in War, Still Attracting B.C. Housewives

Mrs. Hoskwife in British Columbia is forsaking the mop and the kitchen sink for the office and the factory. Or perhaps she is merely taking both home and outside jobs in her stride.

Employment of married women in the province has increased along before the war, according to the Provincial Government's Bureau of Economics and Statistics. It soared to a peak during the war, sloped downward afterwards, but ended up nearly twice the prewar figure.

In 1939 there were 5,740 married women employed in the province, or 14 women per 1,000 population. By 1945 in had jumped to 15,970, or 17.6 per 1,000. This year there are 10,500, or 9.4 per 1,000. This means that nearly double the number of married women are now employed outside the home as compared to prewar, and 2.3 more for every 1,000 persons in the province.

Taking account of the increased of young couples married during or population, there is an overall in- after the war to obtain homes and crease of 31 per cent in the number furnishings in a period of peak of married women employed this prices. year as against 1939.

The trend is continuing upwards, according to the Bureau of Economics and Statistics.

EXTRA MONEY

The increase is regarded in part as a result of wartime conditions. Women who entered business and industry to help the war effort found they liked to work outside the home and liked especially the extra money in the family purse. Continued high employment following the war has made it possible for many to continue working.

In part, also, the trend is regarded as an effort among fixed salary groups to keep pace with the rising cost of living and the effort

The impact of the trend on home life does not coma within the purview of the statisticians, presumably when mother works all day, father must pitch in to help with the dusting and the dishcloth after working hours.

Through Different Colored Glasses

IT is perhaps just as well that Defence Minister Claxton views the European scene through different colored glasses from Prime Minister King. The hopes of the latter, strangely enough, have risen concurrently with their fall in the breasts of most others concerned about negotiations between Russia and the Western Allies. After a few weeks abroad Mr. King felt "more hopeful about the international situation than when I left Canada."

By contrast Mr. Claxton took pains to tell a Montreal audience this week in quite blunt terms that "we have got to defend ourselves." Although not so cheering a view as that of Mr. King, the Defence Minister's must be regarded as much more realistic and in line with that of comparable opinion in the United Kingdom and the United States. At this stage of events it would be most imprudent to emulate the ostrich.

The record to date of Canadian preparedness is not one that reflects any credit on the present Ottawa administration. Defences have been let run down in spite of deteriorating world relations to a point where drastic revision would be necessary to put this country in shape for any such emergency envisaged by Mr. Claxton. Presumably, however, the consideration now being given to the stock-piling of strategic materials is a portent of a more vigorous policy to come.

The divergence of opinion noted between Mr. King and Mr. Claxton may foreshadow a different line of action now that the former is passing from the political stage. His successor may view foreign affairs with a more logical eye than has been the case to date, and if so the change will be none too soon. In themselves pious hopes have virtue, but they are not of much practical value when an emergency finds a nation without the kind of defences a country like Canada should have.

Growth of the Black Market Mentality

RECENT reports from London indicate that Britain is intensifying her efforts to stamp out operations on the black market. While attention currently appears to be directed against diversion to home markets of goods intended for export, there has been growing evidence of late that the whole problem of black markets has been giving grave concern.

Little has been said, however, of another serious aspect of the problem: the effect of what might be described as "black market mentality" on the growing generation. It has remained for the headmistress of an English school to deplore publicly a pronounced increase in lying and concealment which she attributes to the way the black market has come to be accepted as a part of Britain's daily life.

In point of fact the black market mentality is no more healthy for the elders than it is for the children; but it is an evil thing for children to grow up to regard any form of law-breaking as almost normal and natural. When it becomes the smart thing to circumvent one set of laws disregard for others is apt to follow. Passage of two decades has not altogether washed away memories of the sad consequences that followed in the wake of bootlegging on this continent in the "Mad Twenties."

When law-breaking by buying and selling on the black market becomes widespread and loses any serious opprobrium the whole concept of law is undermined. Thus it would appear that Britain from the psychological viewpoint may have a more serious and far-reaching problem on her hands than the immediate one of liquidating the black market itself.

Peeping Out of the Knapsack

THE appointment of General Sir William Slim to succeed the more famous "Monty" as Chief of the Imperial General Staff recalls an old military legend impressed on each new recruit. It is that every private soldier carries in his knapsack the baton of a field marshal, albeit it seldom emerges from the realm of fancy into fact.

General Slim has not yet become a field marshal, but the baton is peeping from the knapsack he wore as a ranker before the Great War, and the normal course of events should see that accolade bestowed upon him before long. What is worth noting is that he has moved successively from the lowest rank in the British Army to its highest appointment. Even in this day and age that is not usual.

The new C.I.G.S. is not so well known as the commanders of the World War's European campaigns, but in the Far East his reputation was comparable with that of the man he succeeds, Field Marshal Montgomery. He commanded in Burma the largest army in action on any front with a distinction that earmarked him for the kind of future responsibility that will now be his. He is said to be as capable and sturdy as an English oak, characteristics that may have special merit at this particular time.

THE MEMORIAL ARENA

Sir,—The Memorial Arena began as a fine and progressive idea, and in spite of the prevalent bickering over the project, the idea is still fine and the need for this building still exists.

We are buying something else besides a pile of concrete and a heap of pipe. We are buying happy and healthy children and adults skating on a fine rink . . . We are buying the pleasure of fine voices raised in speech or song, immortal music played by fine orchestras, and all the laughter and fun that is possible only if this building is a big success.

Bue we are condemning all this to failure by our present habit of thought and conversation. Everywhere, one hears such remarks as, "The arena is a white elephant," "The seating is all wrong." "The ceiling is falling down," "The job is riddled with graft." And people look at the arena and see, not the fine and noble structure it is, but a monument raised to the triumph of inefficiency. These conditions, if they exist, can be corrected and rectified. There are many capable and honest people in Victoria who love their city and have the interests of the citizens in their hearts . . .

The cost of the arena's construction should be charged against that account which pays for roads, sidewalks, lighting, etc., and the admission charges at the arena must be just sufficient to cover the costs of the building maintenance and operation and the expenses of the program offered. No doubt the taxpayers will object to this addition to the city's debt, but let them not worry too much about the matter. For if Victoria remains a bright, pleasant and progressive minded city, there will be plenty of people anxious to make their homes here, pay taxes and thus share the burdens.

But let us not blight our bright future with all these dismal croakings of doubt, distrust and fear.

HERBERT H. WOODHEAD.
815½ Pembroke Street, Victoria, B.C.

THE SADLER HOME

Sir,—As chairman of the building committee, and with the consent of the committee, I would like to give a few particulars about the building of the Sadler home. The main reason for the delay has been the failure of the Carpenters' Union to fulfill a proposal they made to donate help to construct the building. In a letter, sent to the union April 27, 1948, I carefully explained why we could not pay any other carpenters except the foreman. We simply did not have the money. The other objection raised that we were building too fine a building, I also explained.

There seems to be a most ungenerous fear on the part of many people that the committee will do too much for the Sadlers. It is obvious to anyone, that, with the present high costs, coupled with the fact we had to pay old accounts on building that was destroyed, plus equipment necessary for store, we could not afford to pay for everything necessary to rebuild the store and house, with the money collected.

It has been a weary, hard struggle since we started the building to have promises of help fulfilled. I would like to say here that this does not detract from the very warm feeling of gratitude I feel to all those good people who have helped in the construction of the building. To the concrete men, plasterers, electricians, plumbers, lathers, bricklayers, individual carpenters and helpers, contractors who donated their men's time (the latter with some notable exceptions) and the supply houses, mills and lumber yards, who donated materials so generously, I say thank you from the bottom of my heart. To the carpenters and mill workers' union, I say, boys, you fell down on your job. Material is waiting but the carpenters are still unresponsive, in spite of all appeals which I have personally made and which have appeared in the press for assistance.

It has been at the same time, heartwarming, as well as very disillusioning experience to build this building, but I again must emphasize my gratitude to all who have assisted me during the past year.

The Mummer

Strict I walk my ordered way
Through the strait and duteous day;
The hours are nuns that summon me
To offices of housewifery.
Cups and cupboards, flagons, food
Are things of my solicitude.
No elfin Folly haply strays
Down my precise and well-kept ways.

When that compassionate lady Night
Shuts out a prison from my sight,
With other thrift I turn a key
Of the old chest of Memory.
And in my spacious dreams unfold
A flimsy stuff of green and gold,
And walk and wander in the dress
Of old delights, and tenderness.

Early Booster

By FRANK M. KELLEY

Stating that her husband had bought it in a local bookstore over 50 years ago, Mrs. A. E. Townsend very considerately mailed me some time ago a book entitled "Ocean Juttings from England to British Columbia." Mrs. Townsend confided that while it had become a bit reader-worn and lost its cover with the passage of time, as well-read books are sometimes fated to do, she didn't want to destroy it, as its contents might appeal to one interested in a steamship passage from the Old Country to Victoria nearly sixty years ago.

The book was published by The Telegram Printing and Publishing Company, Vancouver, in 1891. Written by Harry Forrester, it is really a diary of many days spent aboard the Ss. West Indian, which made the passage from Liverpool via the Straits of Magellan.

The West Indian cleared the Mersey on December 3, 1890, with five passengers, and dropped anchor in Esquimalt Harbor on February 18, 1891, which meant seventy-eight days in all on the way. During the voyage a number of calls were made, where the little company found much to break the monotony, particularly so at the port of Coronel, where one of the colorful revolutions peculiar to South American states was in progress, the feature of which was the bombardment of the town of Esmeralda.

SMALL PASSENGER LIST

"Ocean Jottings" describes steamship travel as it was sixty years ago and how it effected the socal life of the passenger group—a captain in His Majesty's Militia, his wife, a Mrs. Scott, her son aged sixteen, and Forrester. It is all quite a contrast to what one would expect on a ship making a round of world ports today.

What interested me more than anything else in the book, however, was its eulogistic references to the communities of Victoria, Esquimalt, Nanaimo, Vancouver and New Westminster. Of Victoria he wasn't a bit backward in extolling its praises, and somehow, although it might be a poor guess, I got the impression that Forrester might have been the originator of that well-publicized ballyhoo about Victoria being just "a little bit of England by the shores of the Pacific."

Others have wondered where it originated; and while agreeing that many places in England are very beautiful, and there is no harm done in comparing Victoria with them, they would still prefer to believe that their city has something of its own, an individuality that mantains a perennial appeal. Maybe it was, maybe it was not, borrowed from the little book, but here is how the writer recorded his impressions of Victoria following his arrval here:

LIKE SOUTH OF ENGLAND

"Victoria, the capital of British Columbia, is located on the southern end of Vancouver Island and has a population of 15,000. It very much resembles a town in the south of England, not only on account of its balmy and salobrious climate, but by its residences and well-kept grounds and gardens."

Of Vancouver—"The harbor is one of the finest in the world, and its capacity for marine commerce can never be outgrown. It has a present population of 17,000 . . . New Westminster is the great river port of the Province, its chief wealth being derived from lamber and fish."

Forrester was observant and a booster of British Colombia, as most folks are when they get to know it. "Speaking generally," he states, "I feel sure that British Columbia has only to be known to attract attention. I would strongly advise my readers in England, or elsewhere, to visit it, be he man of means, manufacturer or tradesman."

Super Goldfish Bowl

A new all-glass factory, with transparent walls and roof, is projected by a watch company and will be built in Cincinnati. Employees will be able to gaze over a wide vista of surrounding fields, and of course persons outside will be able to gawk at the employees.

It's all very modern, but it does seem strange that after years of wisecracking about goldfish bowls man should decide to place himself inside a bigger and better one—Windsor Star.

From Canada's Capital . . .

By HAROLD DINGMAN

OTTAWA.—Life of a prison guard is as bad as that of a convict, the wife of a guard tells me in a long letter that is full of bewilderment and a feeling of outrage and injustice.

Her husband works six days a week and receives $2,040 a year before taxes and superannuation deductions. If he's late for work he's fined but if there's a riot he has to stick to his post for endless hours. Does he get overtime pay? "Not on your life," says the wife, "that's all in the line of duty."

"At home his wife feeds her family on hamburger and wieners, while the convicts, poor mistreated angels, get pork chops and steaks. It's true. Find out for yourself how many hog and beef carcases go into K.P. each week," she says in a letter from Kingston. The wife says she hasn't had a roast of beef in the house for months.

"Find out also how many guards have to quit work with nervous breakdowns. How many died of heart failure in the past few years.

"Find out how many young men, war veterans, have taken a job at K.P. and have quit in a few weeks. Too nerve wracking for them.

"Find out the struggle the guards have to make ends meet, how they are barred from taking other jobs in their spare time; how they have to live within a certain distance of their work and pay high rent.

"Find out about the constant fear of every guard's wife of seeing her husband carried home with a knife stuck in his back or killed by a bullet like Mr. Kennedy" (a guard shot in a recent attempted prison break).

"Find out about the promotion system, how men who have been guards for from 20 to 30 years are still guards and others who have been there only three or four years have been made keepers, and don't know the first thing about the duties they take over and have to ask the old-timers what they should do.

"Find out that the only difference between a guard and a convict is that the guard can go home at the end of his day. Otherwise he is more strictly disciplined than the convict.

"Also the con has three square meals a day, a roof over his head, no rent to pay, and hasn't got to worry if he can afford $22 for a ton of coal or buy books for junior to go to school.

"The con also can listen to the radio until 10:15 each night and no radio licence to buy.

"This is probably a waste of time," she writes, "but it's off my chest. If yoo really want to find out the true state of affairs at K.P. take a job for a month, if you can stick it that long."

A Liberal Paid—A prominent member of the Liberal Party paid a slice of the expenses of the Progressive Conservative Convention. How much has not been disclosed but it would be a sizeable sum because such conventions come high.

This man is angry with his party because, he says, "the Liberals have turned socialist, have taxed the common man a billion dollars more than the Government needed," and for other reasons.

He'll support George Drew, he says, until the Liberals "come to their senses."

Cluttering the Air Waves

(Editorial in The Ottawa Journal)

THE board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation have granted a request from the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, representing the commercial interest in radio, for a loosening of the regulations that govern the broadcasting of news in this country.

Mr. Allard, general manager of that association, explains that under existing regulations the closing announcement of a news broadcast "is limited to an institutional announcement incorporating the sponsor's name, name of news source if desired, and must be devoid of all other advertising matter."

This restriction, says Mr. Allard, was "instituted as a war measure, with the praiseworthy objective of preventing any commercial announcement immediately following opon news of disaster, casualties, or similar shocking news," but he holds that the need for it has passed.

The position of the Association of Broadcasters is frankly one of self-interest. Mr. Allard's brief makes that very plain. They say, in effect, that they need money, and there would be a better market for news-broadcast time if a sponsor could have two mentions of his "product or services" at the beginning and end of the broadcast, instead of only at the beginning as in the present system.

In some news broadcasts from United States stations there is an interruption at the half-way mark for the sponsor's commercial message, so he gets three chances altogether at the listener's pocket. C.B.C. having changed its wise rule shall we come to that in this country, too?

Excessive and sometimes distasteful commercial messages have done much to restrict the place of radio as a national cultural force, but news itself has been kept reasonably free from the commercial touch. That policy ought to be maintained. Most of the news broadcast over Canadian stations comes by arrangement from the news-gathering organizations of the daily newspapers, and it is accurate and dependable. Its collection, its dissemination by the newspapers themselves, and in a limited way by radio, are parts of a most important public service.

The governors of the C.B.C. in the past have recognized this fact, have seen to it that radio listeners get the news without color or bias, and free of offensive or repetitive commercial flavor. We think their decision to open up this policy, to give the private broadcasting stations another opportunity to clutter up the Canadian air waves intended for the use and enjoyment of all, is greatly to be deplored.

The West developed employment of atomic energy, and the Russians claim to have invented everything else. This takes the heat off China, hitherto blamed for civilization.

SEPTEMBER SONG

Farewell, Summer, sweetest span
For every woman, child and man.
Adieu, mosquitoes, skunks and bees
And gnats and bats and pollen sneeze;
And bawling infants, mostly hivy,
Picnics gay in poison ivy;
Summer cabins heaven-sent
For just a thousand dollars' rent.
Sunburn, ants and spiders, leeches,
Broken bottles on the beaches.
Bugs that bite you, snakes that hiss you—
Farewell, Summer. Gee, we'll miss you!

Observation Car: By G.B.

ONCE upon a time it was said that two could live as cheaply as one. Now two can starve faster than one . . . A biologist discovered that some species of crabs live as long as 20 years. Many crabs of other varieties live to be 80 years and more . . . "Can you lend me $10 until pay day?" Bill, the Broad Street barber, asked the boss. "You cannot live without an income, so you should learn to live within it," the boss replied . . . "We are thinking of altering the form of administration at the City Hall," Alderman Phineas Flop remarked to a friend. "Then you should always remember that a chain is only as strong as its weakest link," the friend observed . . . "I suppose you drive your car at a good clip, and do not have many close shaves," a customer said to Barber Ben . . . "Grandfather was spared the horrible sight of a woman pricing a single tomato in a shop," the Keating Squire recalled when discussing high prices . . . October is quite versatile, with every kind of weather. She takes a day from all the months, and puts them all together . . . It is interesting to note that the world's motorcycle speed record of 150 miles per hour, set at Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah on September 13 by Roland Free, was made on an English machine . . . The National Board of Fire Underwriters published the following Fire Prevention Week advice. "Chaperon your cigarette. Do not let it go out alone. Put every match out cold. Keep live matches out of the reach of children. Avoid improper use of gasoline and benzine in the home. Do not overload electric circuits. Clean, repair and insulate your heating plant, stove and chimneys" . . . The Edmonton Journal commented on political promises: "Give some politicians time, and they will get around to thinking about the subjects on which they have already made speeches."

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

AT a U.N. meeting, I got into an elevator with a distinguished and scholarly Englishman and an equally distinguished and scholarly American in animated conversaton. The one spoke with what is called the Oxford accent, the other with an Idaho accent.

To pronounce the word "ever," all the Englishman had to do was slightly tighten his lower lip against his teeth to get the v. To utter the same little word, the American started by extending his upper lip outward and slightly to the left; then he brought his lower lip firmly against his teeth for the v; and lastly he extended the lower lip well out and away from his teeth in order to sound the r.

Speaking English is much less muscular or contortional for an Englishman than for most of us in the New World. In that elevator, it was a question which of these two cultured men was speaking English with the correct sounds. Nobody knows how English was sounded a couple of hundred years ago when both the Englishman's and the American's ancestors were at or near Oxford. The same forces of change which created the American sounds in English have been at work in England. Oxford English bears possibly as little resemblance to the English both our ancestors spoke a couple of centories ago as does the Idaho.

To say that the way English is spoken in England is correct is obviously absurd. A Yorkshireman can understand a man from Devon; and they can both go to Oxford and master that particular accent in three or four assiduous years. But even Shakespeare's jokes don't help us really to understand how Yorkshire sounded in the 17th century, when the parting of the ways began.

Britain was a Roman colony for nearly three centuries. Doubtless good Yorkshire Roman families of two centuries' standing sent their sons back to the Mother Country (Rome) to be educated. And when the boys came back home, with their Roman accents, doubtless the Old Man would cry, in amused ire—"Here, young feller, cut out that nonsense and talk Latin!"—Canada Wide Feature Service.

There is an old superstition that it means rain. But it is true only in the sense that a ring around the moon indicates moisture in the upper air. Whether and when rain will follow from increasing cloud formations, nobody can tell.

Looking Back

Through Colonist Files

25 YEARS AGO — Assessment of land in Victoria, already cut by over $1,000,000, may be still further reduced by several million dollars.

50 YEARS AGO—Robert Ward & Co., Ltd., have made the largest shipment of seal skins of the season . . . 22 large cases representing 1,200 skins, the catch of the schooner Mermaid.

85 YEARS AGO—The Fire Department has wisely warned the public against taking any alarm at any ringing of the fire bells which may take place today in honor of the election of chief and assistant engineer.

Mayor Visits Chest Headquarters

—Colonist Photo

MOST interested of many visitors to Community Chest headquarters at Prince Robert House yesterday afternoon was Mayor Percy E George, who made special visit to "see how everything was coming along." In above photo he is looking over portion of collections made to date. Standing behind are: P. E. Winslow (left), co-chairman of drive, and Ald. F N. Cabeldu. Mayor George expressed optimism about progress of campaign to date, and reiterated his hope, on behalf of city and citizens, that $180,000 objective would be reached by October 23, concluding date of this year's "Red Feather" drive.

LUBEC, Me., Oct. 8 (AP). — Folks went fishing here with pitchforks. Pollock were so thick — they were chasing herring in shallow water — that men waded along the beach at Coves Point this week spearing them with the farming tool.

GRAND RAPIDS, Minn., Oct. 8 (AP). — "Spud-dogs," made with a drill press, are being used to promote potatoes here.

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, using a drill press, bored ½-inch holes in 1,500 potatoes, slipped in wieners, and baked them. The "spud-dogs" were eaten at the annual potato festival.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8 (AP). — Hallowe'en arrived a little early yesterday—at least that's what people thought when they found a human skeleton in an open coffin on the sidewalk.

Finally the police were called and they carted the coffin and skeleton to the station house. Detectives believe the skeleton is the property of a secret society or a medical student.

MUNICH, Oct. 8 (Reuters) — Harry Oaves, Austrian tight-rope specialist, last night started an attempt for a world endurance record over the Olympic Ice Stadium in Garmisch-Partenkirchen.

He is trying to remain 24 hours on a 50-foot cable at a height of 45 feet, without a safety net.

While on the cable Daves will write letters, do physical jerks in the morning, read books, and even prepare his lunch on a small stove.

Shifted Atomic Energy Debate Bogs Down in U.N. Committee

PARIS, Oct. 8 (AP).—The United Nations atomic energy debate today moved from the 58-power political committee into the newly-created 11-country sub-committee, but the weary themes were pounded with only minor variations.

Russia and the Soviet Ukraine doggedly opposed resolutions before the sub-committee, all but one of which would give partial or complete approval to the principles for international control of atomic energy formulated by the U.N. atomic energy commission.

RESOLUTION ISSUE

The sub-committee wrangled all morning without even deciding on the order in which it would take up the various resolutions. After lunch, Chairman Sir Benegal Narsinga Rau of India ruled the resolutions would be taken up in the order in which they were submitted. The Canadian resolution consequently was the first to be discussed.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canada's delegate, said it was essential that any resolution agreed on should endorse the views of the Western majority on the atomic energy commission. But Russian delegate Jakob Malik and Dmitri Manuilsky of the Ukraine supported the Russian resolution for simultaneous prohibition and control of the atom bomb.

Cleavage between the two factions was immediately apparent when Malik asked Gen. McNaughton point-blank:

"Does the Canadian representative state that the report of the atomic energy commission contains a proposal to the effect that prohibition and control should be signed into effect simultaneously."

Gen. McNaughton replied the word "simultaneously" did not apply and that such simultaneity was impossible.

He added that the two aspects—prohibition and control—are so intimately related that it is beyond the power of man to divide them into two conventions.

Times Ribs Empire On New Isles

LONDON, Oct. 8 (CP).—The recent discovery by the R.C.A.F. of two Arctic islands was capriciously termed by The Times of London today as "imperialism without tears."

In its fourth "leader," in which the great journal daily lets down its hair in whimsy, The Times comments on how, without drawing rebuke from her critics or praise from her friends, "The British Empire has suddenly become, overnight, larger by 2,000 square miles."

"Canadians could be excused for accepting with a certain phlegm a windfall which seems to them the merest geographical chicken feed," The Times went on. But for Englishmen "it was quite a lot of land—roughly equal in area to Yorkshire."

However, no unbecoming envy must be displayed. Size was not everything. Almost certainly the islands had no grouse shooting, and in marked contrast to Yorkshire "they have no cricket prospects."

Congratulating the Dominion on her "discreet and fortuitous expansion," the paper said it only trusted Canada would not mislay her islands again.

Canada Ends Use of Credit

OTTAWA, Oct. 8 (CP).—Improvement in Canada's foreign exchange position was indicated today by Finance Minister Abbott in an announcement that this country is giving up the use of a $300,000,000 credit obtained in Washington last Autumn.

In a brief statement, he said the Government has advised the Export-Import Bank operated by the United States Government "that it would not be making any further drawings on the line of credits arranged with that bank."

The $300,000,000 credit was obtained last Autumn to bolster Canada's sagging supply of U.S. dollars and to enable this country to continue purchase of raw materials in the United States.

Firm Convicted Of Conspiracy

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP).—The General Electric Company today was convicted of conspiring between 1927 and 1940 to monopolize trade in hard metal compositions and products in the United States and abroad.

Also convicted in Federal court were two affiliate companies and three officials. The defendants were accused in a 1941 indictment of violating the Sherman Anti-Trust and Wilson Tariff Acts.

The corporate defendants are subject to possible fines aggregating $25,000 each, the individuals to similar fines and possible imprisonment of five years each.

The defendants waived a trial by jury and the case was heard by Judge John C. Knox in January and July last year.

Judge Knox fixed no date for sentencing after rendering his verdict.

Air Photo Squadrons End 1948 Work in North

OTTAWA, Oct. 8 (CP). — With a tremendous record of area covered this year, the R.C.A.F.'s air photo squadrons have completed their work for 1948.

This Summer, working over practically-unmapped Arctic and sub-Arctic areas, the service's two photo squadrons covered 911,936 square miles of Canadian territory. This was more than twice last year's record.

Up to the start of this season's activities, about 2,000,000 square miles were covered. This year added almost another 1,000,000.

Wing Cmdr. R. I. Thomas of Victoria, who directly heads the field operations for one of the biggest camera assignments on earth, said at a press conference today that Canada "leads the world in the type of work we are doing."

Members of 413 and 414 Squadrons, who make up the air photo complement, attended the conference and told of the work done this Summer. The former squadron handles what are called "tri-camera" jobs, in which one vertical and two oblique shots are taken simultaneously. This type of work is good for maps four miles to the inch.

Number 413, which worked in the West this year while 414 did Baffin Island, the Ungava district of Quebec and Labrador, does vertical shots only. These make for extremely accurate maps. Despite weather difficulties, 413 mapped 270,800 square miles in vertical shots while 414 handled some 641,000 square miles by the easier tri-camera method.

Court Ponders Decision On Margarine

OTTAWA, Oct. 8 (CP).—The Supreme Court of Canada took under consideration today the question whether Parliament has the right to bar margarine from Canadian dining tables.

The case, referred to this highest court by the Federal Government, revolves around the validity of a 62-year-old Federal statute which prohibits the importation, manufacture and sale of the butter substitute in this country.

The court reserved judgment at the end of three and a half days of argument in which proponents of the legislation held it was within Federal jurisdiction while opponents contended that it fell within Provincial competence.

Court sources said the decision likely will be announced a week from Monday.

The reference stemmed directly from a Senate motion asking the Government to seek a ruling on the legislation.

It climaxed a long legislative fight against the prohibition, which has drawn added importance through the periodic butter shortages developing since the war. Three times in the last three sessions the Senate alone has rejected private legislation aimed at lifting the ban.

In today's final argument, Miss Margaret Hyndman, K.C., of Toronto, appearing for the Canadian Association of Consumers, said the ban denied Canadian women, of whom she represented 30,000, their "legal right" to buy a nutritious food and legitimate article of trade. A "crisis" had arisen in Canadian homes when butter went up to 75 cents a pound.

Labor Party Retains Seat

STIRLING, Scotland, Oct. 8 (CP). —The Labor Party retained the House of Commons seat for this constituency in yesterday's by-election, it was announced tonight.

Malcolm MacPherson won the contest with a vote of 17,011. The Conservative candidate, Col. William Forbes polled 14,826 votes while Robert Curran, Scottish Nationalist, had 2,831.

Slim Succeeds Montgomery As Staff Chief

LONDON, Oct. 8 (CP). — Gen. Sir William Slim, Britain's wartime commander in Burma, tonight was appointed chief of the Imperial General Staff.

He succeeded Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, named military chairman of the defence council of the Five-Country Western European Alliance.

Prime Minister Attlee recalled Sir William from private life for Britain's top army job. He had retired early this year.

Short, broad-shouldered and square-jawed, the new 57-year-old commander in Burma, tonight was ness and glamor of Lord Montgomery. He once told a newspaperman: "You can't make a Monty out of me."

Sir William rose from lance-corporal in the Territorial Army at the start of the Great War to Britain's highest military post. He says he became a soldier by accident and a wound in the Great War almost ended his military career.

Severely wounded in the ill-fated Gallipoli campaign, he was discharged as "permanently unfit," but by 1916 he had wormed his way back into the army.

At the start of the World War Sir William commanded a brigade that fought in Eritrea, East Africa where he was wounded again. When the Japanese attacked Burma he was dispatched to head the first Burma corps which made the long retreat from Rangoon to India. In 1943 he was named to command the 14th Army which joined Gen. Joseph Stilwell's Chinese-American troops in the campaign to push the Japanese out of Burma.

Trieste Threat Over Russia Draws Tito's Eyes to West

Interpreting the News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

TRIESTE, Oct. 8 — Russia or no Russia, indications are it will be a long time before Trieste is returned to Italy, as the Western Allies suggested before the recent Italian elections.

By the same token that Yugoslavia's split with Russia served to lift the feeling of siege and imminent danger which has surrounded this supposedly free territory since the war, it also dimmed Italian hopes for regaining control.

As long as the Cominform split continues there would seem to be small point in the Allies completely closing off Yugoslav hopes regarding Trieste. It is a magnet which draws Tito's eyes away from the East.

NO HOPE FOR TITO

Not that he will ever get it. But as long as it is not formally returned to Italy he can still see the point and still have some hope, however small. It tends to pull him away from closure of the rift with his communised neighbors.

There was never any chance that the Russians would agree to return Trieste, anyway. The Western Allies' suggestion merely set the stage for taking advantage of some future split with Russia such as resulted in their decision to establish a Western German state without Soviet consent.

Retention of the city in Allied hands is thus a two-way weapon. The threat that it will be returned to Italy can be used to meet Russian intransigeance elsewhere, while the fact that it has not been returned has its effect on Yugoslavia.

NOT TOO WORRIED

The Italians, so far as I can learn, do not seem too worried about it. They would like to have Trieste back. Its return would be a feather in the cap of the Rome Government, which could use a whole headdress.

But Trieste already is operating so much like a normal Italian province that it is hard to tell the difference. The Government is set up the same way. It has a connection with Rome through representatives there, and trade between the two areas flows almost as easily as in the rest of Italy.

The Italians also know that there is no danger as long as the city is under Allied occupation, that it will be taken over by the pro-Tito Slovene Communists who form an important part of its population, or even by a Slovene-Italian Communist Coalition. The Italian Government has had enough trouble in Northern Italy to realize the value of such insurance.

ITALIAN STAND

The Italians also know that the Allies will not make any deal for Trieste which involves acknowledgement of Yugoslav rights in the Venezia Giulia zone which they occupy. They can even hope that the Allies might do something some day to get both Trieste and the zone back for Italy.

Above all, the Italians don't want Allied troops out of Trieste.

So if the Allies aren't going to be very active about the idea of returning Trieste for the time being, the Italians probably will only talk a little for political purposes and not put up too much squawk.

VESUVIUS BAY ONE OF SALT SPRING ISLAND BEAUTY SPOTS

Photograph shows Vesuvius Bay on west side of Salt Spring Island, looking toward Sansum Narrows. Island lies to east of North Cowichan Municipality, and is 17 miles long and from one to nine miles in width. Principal villages are Musgrave, Fulford Harbor, Beaver Point and Ganges. For many years Salt Spring Island has been famous for its butter.

Courtenay to Lay Pipes For Lot of New Houses

COURTENAY, Oct. 8.—Courtenay will start work immediately on installation of water mains and services to the site of the new Central Mortgage and Housing Development. Cost of the installation will be about $8,840, including hydrants and fittings.

Following an interview with John Larsen, city works superintendent, the City Council decided to use cast-iron pipe for the job. This will cost about $2,000 more than wood pipe, but aldermen felt that permanence was the first consideration. Main will be installed by the regular crew of the city works department.

On recommendation of Mr. Larsen, the council authorized installation of the mains before drainage work was started at the site. Mr. Larsen pointed out that the first houses will be built on higher ground and there was, therefore, no necessity to start drainage work first.

Aid Employees Of Courtenay

COURTENAY, Oct. 8 — The City of Courtenay will bear half the cost of its employees' hospitalization dues, it was decided by the City Council. Decision was made on the recommendation of the labor relations committee, headed by Ald Arthur Tilbe.

Speaking for the public works committee, which he also heads, Alderman Tilbe recommended that the city decline to assume responsibility for the resurfacing of the deck beside the gasoline pumps of Brammall-Mason, Ltd., garage. The council agreed.

Man Has Faith In Green Cure

PORT ALBERNI, Oct. 8 — H. R. Carter, Alberni, partner with L. P. Green, and his office manager, still believes in the Green cure for arthritis. Mr. Carter issued a challenge to any interested person or organization to come to meet Mr. Green, and if he is not satisfied with the work being done, Mr. Carter offers to pay all expenses of such a journey.

The latest development regarding the Green cure was a statement by Mr. Green that during his absence at Victoria it appears that medicines had been dispensed without his knowledge and a mix-up of formulas might have occurred. He disclaimed responsibility for any medicine not distributed by himself, and advised against using such medicine.

Council Gives Hint to Board

COURTENAY, Oct. 8.—Trustees of Courtenay School District, No. 71, will be advised by the Courtenay City Council that if and when the board finds it needs $10,000 the matter should be brought to the attention of council again.

Previously the board had sought the council's permission to negotiate a loan for the money to meet extraordinary expenditures. However, board members stated at a joint meeting that it was possible the obligation could be met out of the current budget.

PARKSVILLE, Oct. 8 — In response to many requests, Saturday night dances in the Parksville Community Hall will commence at 10 o'clock instead of 8 o'clock.

No Conference At Courtenay

COURTENAY Oct. 8 — There will be no meeting, under the auspices of the City of Courtenay, to discuss the high cost of living. The City Council has turned down a request from the Alberni District Cost of Living Committee to sponsor such a parley.

"There does not appear to be much purpose in calling a meeting of this kind. At best, it would only afford various political parties an opportunity to expound their views," Mayor Harry C. Simms commented.

Beard Permits Help Hospital

PORT ALBERNI, Oct. 8 — Approximately $1,000 has been raised to date by the sale of beard licences and apron permits by the Alberni Forty-Niners. The female of the species are now being fairly warned that an apron or a conscious objector button must be in evidence or it will be the "kangaroo court" for them on Saturday. All money raised by the sale of buttons and fines goes directly to the Community Chest for the Hospital Building Fund.

The date of the final Klondike Night has been changed to November 20 to allow the attendance of all mill employees who might otherwise be on night shift. Officials are hopeful of raising $10,000 at the show.

To Hold Party At Parksville

PARKSVILLE, Oct. 8.—Parksville Kinsmen are planning their annual Hallowe'en shell-out campaign which will end with a children's party at the Community Hall on October 30. The party will be fancy dress with the early part of the evening for the younger children and probably ending with a dance for the older ones.

Tentative plans were made at a recent meeting at which Harry Butler presided, and final arrangements will be made at the next regular meeting on Friday. Proceeds from the shell-out will go toward local youth activities.

Fair at View Royal

VIEW ROYAL, Oct. 8.—The Fall Fair committee of the View Royal Community Association reported full lists in the various classes at the event to be held Saturday afternoon.

E. W. White, Provincial horticulturist, will judge vegetables and fruit at 10 a.m. C. A. Pope, Bert Cole and Mrs. A. Meade will judge arts and crafts at 11 a.m., with Mrs. N. Greaves and Mrs. C. A. Pope selecting winners in handcrafts.

Mrs. W. Newbury and Mrs. O. Simpson will judge home-cooking and canning entries at 11.30 a.m. Flower displays will be judged by Mrs. Henry Chandler and Mrs. H. B. Stevens at 1 p.m.

The fair will be opened at 2 p.m. by the community association president. There will be an auction of home cooking and tulip bulbs presented by Clifford Bate, association director, toward the close of the program.

Refreshments will be served free during the fair.

May Purchase Steam Roller

COURTENAY, Oct. 8.—The finance committee of the Courtenay City Council will consider the advisability of buying a 12-ton steam roller from G. W. Ledingham & Co. for $400.

The council was at first inclined to turn down the offer, but left it to the finance committee when John Larsen, works superintendent, pointed out the advantages of the purchase. Mr. Larsen said the roller would be useful for making roads in the city and that the boiler could be used to heat tarvia. He thought the roller might be rented to the Provincial Public Works Department when the city did not need it, and that this would bring in revenue.

Mr. Larsen said the roller had been built in 1908, but it had deteriorated very little.

Feed Business Changes Hands

COURTENAY, Oct. 8 — The Comox Creamery Association has sold its feed business to the Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Ltd., one of the "big four" in the Canadian milling industry. Transfer of stocks and business will take place October 16.

Completion of negotiations leading to the sale was announced by E. H. Spencer, president of the association, and follows a decision taken at a meeting of association members to dispose of the feed business. Opposition to the sale had been expressed by Harry Gunter, local turkey breeder, who claimed the decision had been made by only one-tenth the membership of the association.

Frank Chipman Funeral Today

ALBERNI, Oct. 8.—Funeral services will be held at First Baptist Church on Saturday for the late Frank G. Chipman, whose death occurred on Tuesday. Rev. Glen Stevenson will officiate.

Mr. Chipman, who was in his 87th year, came to Alberni 13 years ago from Weyburn, Sask., where he was a pioneer homesteader.

He is survived by his widow, Sarah N., Alberni; three daughters and two sons, Mrs. O. C. Ledbetter, Orsea, Cal.; Mrs. J. W. Richmond, Banff; Mrs. R. B. Mallard, Duncan, and Clifford Haney and Frank, Qualicum; also six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Shoots Cougar Near Renfrew

PORT RENFREW, Oct. 8.—While walking along a road near the village, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reid noticed a large female cougar stalking a deer. Mr. Walker, who happened to be carrying a rifle, threw a cartridge into the breech and managed to wound the animal before it disappeared in the woods. He returned later with two hounds, treed the animal, and killed it with a single shot.

Nanaimo Work To Help Port

J. M. Somerville, secretary of the Dominion Department of Public Works, Ottawa, will received sealed tenders for the dredging of Nanaimo Harbor up to next Wednesday.

Tenders must be sealed and endorsed "tenders for dredging Nanaimo Harbor (middle bank), B.C." Unless made out on forms supplied by the department, tenders will not be considered.

Tenders must include towing of the plant to and from the work, and be accompanied by a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada made out to the Minister of Public Works. Security must not be less than $500.

Dredges to be employed in the work must have been registered in Canada on or before December 31, 1929.

Combined specifications and form of tender can be obtained from the office of K. W. Morton, district engineer, Post Office Building, New Westminster.

Plan Banquet At Shawnigan

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, Oct. 8.—At a well-attended meeting of Malahat branch of the Canadian Legion, arrangements were made for the annual veterans' reunion dinner, a popular local event of many years' standing. The dinner will be held on November 6, and all veterans of the district have been cordially invited. Admission will be by ticket only, procurable from A. R. Hawkins, secretary.

A dinner committee to make final arrangements includes G. W. Stilwell, P. G. Cudlip, G. G. Orr, H. G. Webber, E. S. Erickson and Mr. Hawkins.

Plans were made for the sale of poppies on Poppy Day, in charge of Y. E. Zelinsky, Bamberton; G. W. Hooper, Mill Bay, E. S. Erickson, C. W. Page and R. Michaelson, Shawnigan Lake.

The Remembrance Day committee was asked to take up the matter of the Remembrance Day service with a similar committee from the Cobble Hill branch. F. S. Greenhouse agreed to assist as parade marshal if required. Efforts are being made by J. G. Morley to bring the branch's honor roll up to date. G. W. Stilwell presided.

Kinsmen Stage Annual Event

PORT ALBERNI, Oct. 8 — The eighth annual Hayseed Ball, sponsored by the Alberni district Kinsmen Club, was held on Friday. Prizes were given for the best farmerette and farmer costumes worn at the affair. Bearded men and apron-clad ladies of the district were right in style.

Proceeds from the affair will go to the Food for Britain Fund. Kinsmen also sponsor the annual Fall Fair, and assist the Memorial Centre and the Boy Scouts, as well as many other community endeavors.

Today's Big Turkeys Had B.C. Origin

Gobblers Thrive On Island

During the past year one or two popular magazines have featured stories on the breeding and upbringing of turkeys, usually under the title "Turkeys Are Crazy" or "You've Got to Be Smart to Raise Turkeys."

Well, turkeys are temperamental and there's no getting away from that. Moonbeams bother them at night. They don't like strangers. Sudden noises jar their delicate nerves. A cross glance from a stranger might be enough to make them "stampede," killing brother-brooders in their flight from fear. They're cannibals, too. If one of the brood is cut or injured somehow, the remaining stalwarts will pounce on the unfortunate one and kill it.

PROFITABLE

With such peculiar foibles to contend with, maybe it's breeders who are crazy in trying to raise them and not the turkeys after all.

But any one of the 150 Vancouver Island residents who raise turkeys will call it a profitable business.

"Just as long as you nurse your turkeys through their skittish first eight weeks everything should work out fine," is typical bit of advice.

There must be something in what they say, because raising turkey dinners has grown into a $500,000 business in British Columbia.

RECENT GROWTH

It is only during the last few years that this peak has been reached, as turkey raisers have been able to nose out stiff outside competition.

Until five years ago, British Columbia had to import the majority of its turkeys. Since then the hard work and patience of provincial turkey men have caused United States and Prairie competitors to sit right up and take notice.

Island growers were aided by an organization known as the Vancouver Island Turkey Improvement Association, a group of raisers and breeders dedicated to the betterment of the turkey business on the Island. They work in co-operation with a similar group in the Fraser Valley.

SPECIAL BREED

History of the British Columbia turkey industry stems from the day about 20 years ago when Jesse Throssel, of Cloverdale, imported broad-breasted Bronze turkeys from England. After spending months improving his stock, Throssel tried to enter them in a Mid-West United States show. But the birds were such an improvement over what had been seen in the Mid-West up to that time the authorities refused them a roost in their show.

Confident in the knowledge that his birds had the sought-after meat-producing breasts, Throssel entered them in a show in Vancouver. The birds stole the show and poultry officials tried in vain to find out where the Cloverdale farmer had obtained his birds. Refusing to reveal his secret, Throssel sold a half dozen of his birds for $200 each.

SILENCE PAYS

Throssel's tight-lipped policy (he didn't tell all until years later) is looked on as being one of the main reasons for the success of the turkey industry in British Columbia today.

Unlike their predecessor, present-day turkey raisers do not pull down the "iron curtain" around their profession. Most of them like to "talk turkey."

It's no secret that they raise two main varieties on their farms: The broad-breasted Bronze and the Beltsville small white. When the Bronze, weighing from 13 to 30 pounds, was found by experts to be too much of a meal for a small family, the Beltsville, weighing from eight to 16 pounds, was developed to satisfy the demand. The Beltsville was developed with a calculating eye to increase sales on local markets since today small families are the rule rather than the exception.

"DE-BEAKERS"

An urge the birds don't get over even after their "skittish" period is the one that prompts them to pluck out their own feathers. To prevent this a special device called the "de-beaker" is brought into play. Electrically charged, the instrument is used to snip off the turkey's beak. If this isn't used, a "bit" is put through the turkey's nostrils and mouth.

There may be one point on which turkey farmers may be reluctant to talk, however, especially around Thanksgiving, because the turkeys which will find their way to the Thanksgiving dinner tables in Victoria Monday are going to be high-priced birds.

PRICES HIGHER

Current selling prices in Victoria range from 65 to 70 cents a pound. Last Christmas the price range extended from 47 to 55 cents a pound. At the New Year they were selling for as low as 42 cents.

Reasons advanced for the price climb include the high price of feed grains and the high prices obtainable on the export market to the United States.

Last week city wholesalers reported "lots of turkeys" on the local market. They explained, however, that stocks were not as high as they might have been if rainy Spring weather conditions had not set flocks back two to three weeks.

MONDAY, Thanksgiving Day, will be observed for 70th consecutive time as Canadian holiday. Ancient in origin, custom was brought to America by New England Pilgrims, who set apart day for thanksgiving after first harvest in 1621. Most agricultural people of Ancient World set aside at least one day during Autumn Equinox to give thanks for fruitfulness of the earth. Thanksgiving was celebrated by Romans, Druids, Greeks, and Israelites.

Today thanksgiving has lost much of religious, patriotic fervor that inspired it in former years, becoming day of rest, recreation and family reunion.

Symbol of Thanksgiving in many Canadian homes is turkey. Thanksgiving turkey tradition has brought great new industry to Vancouver Island.

Pictures above and at left show views of typical turkey farm of C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, Metchosin, where 2,000 turkeys were marketed for Thanksgiving Day. Shown are famous Broad-Breasted Bronze strain. During coming year, Mr Whitney-Griffiths will export eggs to Britain, breeding stock to United States and 50,000 poults to Prairies.

At bottom, owner's dog, Prince, is shown on guard to prevent birds from straying. Dogs help round up birds in same way shepherd is assisted by sheepdog.

Coast Naval Squadron Off to Hawaii Monday

Marine News

Commencing an Autumn training cruise, five ships of the Royal Canadian Navy will leave Esquimalt naval base Monday morning, bound for Pearl Harbor in the Hawaiian Islands where they will pay a short visit.

The squadron will sail from Esquimalt at 10:30 a.m. and will steam past Brotchie Ledge, off Dallas Road, in cruiser formation at approximately 11 a.m., before setting their courses seaward. Victorians wishing to see this procession of warships are reminded a good vantage point will be from the Dallas Road portion of Beacon Hill Park.

The group, under the command of Captain J. C. Hibbard, D.S.C., R.C.N., in the cruiser, H.M.C.S. Ontario, includes ships of the Second Canadian Destroyer Division. In this division, led by Commander Owen C. S. Robertson, G.M., R.D., R.C.N., aboard the divisional leader, H.M.C.S. Cayuga, are the destroyers Athabaskan, Crescent and the frigate Antigonish.

During the training cruise, the ships will be almost constantly at sea carrying out a heavy schedule of exercises and training drills. Night actions, gunnery and torpedo exercises, anti-submarine tactics, and refueling at sea will be among the many items provided to bring personnel up to a high state of fighting efficiency.

It is expected the ships will return to the Esquimalt base early in November.

Prizegiving

Annual prizegiving ceremonies of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club will be held at the Cadboro Bay clubhouse tonight, starting at 8:30, reports publicity committee chairman C. J. Harrington.

Andrew Wright, commodore of the Yacht Club, will head a list of officials taking part in the program. Prizes and other awards will be presented to winners of various club racing functions held throughout the Summer.

Runs Aground

Officials of Nelson Bros. Fisheries Ltd. report that their vessel the Western Pilot is aground at Bear River, 160 miles northwest of Vancouver.

The craft is reported not to be in any immediate danger, and her crew of five men remained aboard. Some 4,000 salmon on board has been removed to other craft.

Hit by Storm

The Halifax Salvage Tug Foundation Josephine and a British freighter which the tug towed to Bermuda have been driven aground by the hurricane which struck Bermuda, it was learned in Halifax yesterday. Foundation maritime officials in Halifax, owners of the 1,100-ton tug, reported that all 28 men aboard the Foundation Josephine are safe and uninjured.

Boat "Evicted"

Esmeralda, forsaken fishing boat which has been moored by the Causeway in the Inner Harbor for several years, will no longer be allowed to hold that berthing, report local harbor officials.

The property of W. W. Warren, Shelbourne Street, the vessel has been more trouble than it's worth to those in the port and harbor warden's offices. Recently it broke away from its mooring, and was temporarily tied up at the Black Ball Ferry Line wharf.

The boat will be taken away to another mooring. If it makes another appearance in the Inner Harbor, the authorities have warned they will take action.

Call Tenders

Tenders for road paving at R.C.N. College, Royal Roads, Esquimalt, will be received by the Secretary, Canadian Commercial Corporation, 70 Lyon Street, Ottawa, until October 13.

The Canada Gazette, publishing the tender, No. G3-28-109, said tenders must be enclosed in sealed envelopes bearing the tender number.

Tender forms will be supplied by the Canadian Commercial Corporation on request, The Gazette said. No tenders will be considered unless made on such forms and all tenders are subject to terms set out in the forms.

Plans and specifications at Building and Construction Industries Exchange of B.C., 342 West Pender Street, and Building Contractors' Association, 1451 West Broadway, Vancouver.

Each tender must be accompanied by a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada payable to the Receiver-General of Canada, or by bearer bonds for 10 per cent of the amount of the tender.

Deposits will be returned to unsuccessful applicants.

Notice to Mariners

Mariners are advised that two dolphins have been driven at New Westminster Harbor, entrance to North Arm, Fraser River, to denote a 300-foot channel through floating pipeline from the dredge which is operating at Pacific Coast Terminals. The dolphins have fixed red lights and are 600 feet southeasterly of Terminal Dock and denote fairway over sunken portion of a discharge pipeline.

Spectacular Tuna Catches Along Coast Spur Intensive Study for Future Gain

By RAY WORMALD

Tuna . . . the "chicken of the sea."

Never before in the colorful history of British Columbia's fishing industry has this species received as much study, interest and attention as during the season just ended.

Hundreds upon hundreds of coastal fishermen sought the fish this Summer, and for the first time landed them by the thousands in Northern British Columbia waters.

C. G. Barrie, local representative of the Federal Fisheries Department here, estimates "just under" 3,000,000 pounds of tuna were landed this year by British Columbia fishermen. Value of the catch would run in excess of $500,000. This additional wealth to the fishing industry came from prices ranging from $350 to $800 per ton.

It marked the first year the Federal Fisheries Department has taken an active interest in the tuna industry.

Probably never before has such an intense program of study, exploration and research been directed toward any one species of fish as that made this Summer into tuna.

"TUNA TRACKERS"

The Federal Fisheries Department combined its resources and pitted them against the mysterious tuna early in June. Department patrol vessels Kitimat and Laurier played a leading role in the program, and with them sailed a number of fisheries specialists and biologists.

Among these "tuna trackers" were such men as A. J. Touchings, fisheries inspector from Port Alberni; Capt. C. W. Earnshaw, skipper of the Kitimat, and R. Seagel, biologist from the Pacific Biological Station at Nanaimo.

In the course of their studies they actually took part in tuna fishing operations. Hundreds of the fish were caught by the patrol vessels, and each was tagged with a specially-made plastic disc, attached to the fish by means of silver wire. These tagged fish, it is hoped, will be caught again. Fishermen will inform the "tuna trackers" of the location of the catch, and through this program it is hoped much will be learned of the species' migratory habits . . . which, up to now, remain a mystery.

British Columbia tuna fishermen have also kept detailed "logs" of their fishing operations. In special books they have listed their catches, with relative information about location of catch, size of fish, temperatures of water, bait used, and other data.

MOUNTAIN OF DATA

Now that the season is over, literally mountains of data has been accumulated. It is all being sent to the Pacific Biological Station at Nanaimo, where, under the direction of Dr. J. L. Hart, senior biologist, it will be sorted and condensed. As a result, a complete report of all known information on tuna fishing in British Columbia waters will be ready for coastal fishermen before next year's season gets under way.

What about next year's tuna industry? This question is on the lips of hundreds of fishermen. It is also a question mark in the minds of officials in the industry. Mr. Barrie sums it up when he says: "Your guess is about as good as anyone else's."

"But," he adds, "we are hopeful."

Patrol vessels of the Federal department will again be employed next year.

Even more intense studies will be embarked upon . . . the tuna trackers," through information gathered this year, have something to work on. No longer are they completely in the dark.

Most spectacular tuna catches ever recorded in British Columbia were made this year in waters about the Queen Charlotte Islands. It was known the fish existed there many years ago, but for some reason or another they were never fished commercially. Among suggested reasons is the fact there were few, if any, cold storage facilities in the northern area. Today that picture has changed. Large cold storage and quick-freeze units have been established at Prince Rupert and other more northerly locations.

Tuna — the mystery fish — have meant the opening of a new era in the fishing industry of British Columbia.

Will this species continue to add thousands of dollars to the pocket-books of British Columbia fishermen? Will their runs be as heavy, or heavier, next year, and the year after?

Fishermen and fisheries officials are keeping their fingers crossed.

—Colonist Photo.

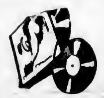

Tuna for dinner tables of world is shown being hoisted from ice-packed hold of B.C. tuna fishing boat home to unload. Fish are not cleaned by fishermen, but packed in ice, frozen again when unloaded and sent to canneries. The "chicken of the sea" are caught on lines with barbless hooks. Rich harvest of tuna was landed last year from Pacific Northwest waters.

Old Sailing Ship Now Hauls Logs

—Colonist Photo.

IN days long since past, aptly described as those of "iron men and wooden ships," this vessel was majestic sailing ship, and was originally known as James Dollar. Today, her hull still firm, she is being used by Island Tug & Barge Ltd. to haul logs along West Coast of Vancouver Island. Ancient, 223-foot hull, now named Island Forester, is pictured above at Ogden Point docks with large load of logs brought here from logging centre at Clayquot, West Coast. Logs, which total more than 1,000,000 board feet, are destined for James Bay Lumber Company. Log carrier was towed here by tug Island Navigator. Because dredging has not been completed, Island Forester—which has draught of 24 feet—is not able to enter Inner Harbor and, consequently, much valuable time is lost to delivery of logs to local mill.

Mrs. Wallace Prefers Farm Life to Politics

By MARIENNE IZSAK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (CP).—Quiet, good-looking Mrs. Henry Wallace says she'd rather stay on her South Salem, N.Y., farm than live in the White House.

But she has indicated she doesn't expect the November 2 presidential election to require the move, anyway.

"I hope my husband gets a big vote—I think that's important and I think he'll get a larger vote than many people expect," was all she'd say about his victory chances when she held a news conference recently.

She is poised and confident now at any public gathering, but there was a time when Ilo Brown Wallace shied away from them.

She didn't dream in 1914, when she married Henry Agar Wallace, who was then a reporter on his father's paper, "Wallace's Farmer," that she would some day be called upon to speak from the balcony of the White House, as a substitute for Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. That was when her husband was Vice-President.

When the Wallaces first moved to Washington in 1933, Mrs. Wallace was immersed in her home and family. Her hair was pulled severely back, she wore unbecoming spectacles and didn't bother about clothes.

Then political life began to make demands on her. She was—rather unwillingly at first—forced to "pinch hit" for Mrs. Roosevelt on several occasions. She "blossomed out," as her friends say. In 1941, she was chosen the "Best Dressed Woman in Public Life."

WATCHES HER FIGURE

Now she wears her hair softly waved—it is graying attractively—and watches her figure, which is inclined to plumpness. She seems to have the happy faculty of growing prettier with age

She still doesn't force herself into the public eye. At the Philadelphia convention last July, when her husband became Presidential candidate for the Progressive Party which he formed, she sat quietly among the crowd of delegates and supporters. Few there knew who she was.

Questions about politics and her husband's candidacy brings little response. She tries to steer away from questions such as the one asked by Mrs. Charlotta Beggs, publisher and editor of the California Eagle, a Negro paper in Los Angeles

"Do you think the Negro people are ready for full integration in the Wallace Party? Do you think they will really be made a part of it, or will they eventually get kicked around or be booted as they have been by the Republicans and Democrats?"

Mrs Wallace, visibly embarrassed, hesitated and then answered: "I should think they will be . . . yes," and then escaped into the next room.

"I will not campaign," she has often said. "I don't like speech-making and try to get out of it whenever I can"

The Wallaces have three children—Joan, who is married to Leslie Douglas, a Washington stock broker; Robert, who is also married and lives in Bryn Mawr, Pa., and Henry.

HOLD WELCOME TEA

A successful welcome tea was held recently by Craigflower P.-T.A which was attended by 40 guests. The next meeting will be held in the school on October 12, at 8 p.m. A court whist party will be held on October 18, at 8 p.m., in the school.

MOSTLY GOOD NEWS

LONDON (CP)—Telegrams sent in the United Kingdom in 1947 totalled 47,000,000—and only three in every 100 carried bad news, says the post office.

To Make Home In Vancouver

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was the scene of a pretty wedding Friday evening when Lois Catherine, daughter of Mr and Mrs. George W. Hussell, 1218 Balmoral Road, exchanged vows with Donald Charles Morris Diamond, son of Mr and Mrs. P Grant Diamond, Bowker Avenue, in the presence of Rev J. L. W. McLean

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in white faconne over satin, fashioned with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, cap sleeves worn with long satin mitts, and full skirt sweeping into a short train. Her finger-tip veil was held by a pearl coronet and she carried a white Bible topped with white chrysanthemums and showered with pink rosebuds.

The senior attendants were Miss Edna Steer and Miss Helen Scafe gowned alike in white moire taffeta styled on classic lines with bouffant skirts and fishtail-peplums. They wore white halo hats, finished with large vivid ribbon-bows in the back: Miss Steer's accent color was green and she carried bronze chrysanthemums; while Miss Scafe had yellow and her bouquet was composed of gold chrysanthemums. Miss Ruth Diamond, sister of the groom, was junior bridesmaid, and Miss Carolyn Cornish, flower girl, wore twin frocks of long white moire taffeta with Dutch bonnets of white taffeta and net trimmed with blue and rose bows respectively. They carried Colonial bouquets in Autumn shades.

The bridegroom had his brothers, Mr Robert Diamond as best man, and Mr. Gordon Diamond as usher, with Mr. Lysle Hussell, brother of the bride. As the register was being signed Mr Lysle Russell sang "I'll Walk Beside You"

The reception was held at Lougheed's Banquet Club. The three-tiered cake topped with violas and pink rosebuds, centred the table which was decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums and lighted by pink tapers. Mr W A Roper proposed the health of the bride

For a honeymoon motor trip up the Island, the bride wore a three-piece brown suit with beige hat, beige and hunter's green accessories and a corsage of bronze chrysanthemums. They will live in Vancouver.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

Democracy's Spread in Japan Noted by Lions Club Speaker

The advent of democracy into Japan since the end of the World War was described by Dr. Evans Nelson of Tacoma, who served with the American occupation forces in that country until recently, before the Lions Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Democracy was slowly but surely getting a solid foothold in Japan, he said, and although the Japanese were "a little suspicious" of our kindnesses at first, "they are coming to accept and like their new mode of living."

He noted the Japanese people had lived under a regime of servitude for many centuries. One of the greatest problems facing the occupational forces, he added, was to eradicate ancient superstitions and backward customs.

Today, he said, freedom of speech has been introduced. The Japanese are able to elect a representative Government. Women are now able to vote. Schools are equipped with new and more truthful text books. Great strides are being made in the fight against disease. Freedom of religion has been introduced, and no longer do the people hold the belief an emperor is a direct descendant of the Sun God.

Dr Nelson warned that Communists were attempting to "win over" the Japanese people "before we do." With brief reference to the possibility of a war with Russia, he said: "Let us remember that Japan is to Asia what England is to Europe."

It was possible, he concluded, that Japan might well become one of the greatest friends of Western Powers.

His address concluded with the showing of a large number of color slides taken by himself in Japan. Most of them depicted atom bomb damage of Japanese cities.

The club voted to donate $150 to the K.V.'s. Athletic Club, a contribution it has made annually for several years.

Many of the members were accompanied by their wives.

ELECT OFFICERS

Barbara Lane was elected president of the Centennial United Church Young People's this week.

Other officers elected were Mel Charlton, vice-president; Maureen Campbell, secretary; Francis McIvor, treasurer; Peggy McPherson, fellowship convener; Peter Young and Ruth Hall, culture and recreation conveners; Mel Charlton, citizenship convener; Hilda Smith, Eileen Adkins and Sam Peel, social conveners.

The group decided to meet every Tuesday at 8 p.m., in the church parlor.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Lillian Moore, Auburn, Washington, will be guest speaker at the Open Door Spiritualist Church, 1600 Cook Street, at 7:30 Sunday.

Mrs. Moore is a trustee of the Washington State Board, and is an active worker at Edgewood Spiritualist Camp.

Plans for an anniversary banquet and dance were laid at the weekly meeting of St. Mary's Anglican Young People's Association in the parish hall this week. The dance, to be held on November 15, will mark the 21st anniversary of the branch.

At the Theatres

CAPITOL THEATRE "Coroner Creek," Columbia's large - scale Cinecolor Western, will end its current run at the Capitol Theatre today. Starring Randolph Scott and Marguerite Chapman, the film is based on the stirring Saturday Evening Post story by Luke Short. George Macready, Sally Eilers and Edgar Buchanan head a large supporting cast.

OAK BAY THEATRE After winning plaudits in dramas, Cary Grant returns to comedy in R.K.O Radio's "The Bachelor and the Bobby-Soxer," with Myrna Loy and Shirley Temple as his co-stars. It is now showing at the Oak Bay Theatre.

YORK THEATRE Golden - voiced Kathryn Grayson sings everything from opera to popular ballads in her latest role as the romantic schoolma'm in "It Happened in Brooklyn," M.G.M.'s happy-go lucky new musical now showing at the York screen this week Co-starred with her are Jimmy Durante, Frank Sinatra and Peter Lawford.

RIO THEATRE With a cast studded with topnotch stars and players, and a story of breathless speed, tempo and excitement, Kenneth Roberts' sweeping sea saga, "Captain Caution," is now showing at the Rio Theatre The production co-stars Victor Mature, Alan Ladd and Louise Platt, with prominent roles played by Leo Carrillo and Bruce Cabot.

ROYAL THEATRE "Anna Karenina," the romance considered by millions as the greatest love story ever penned, will end its current run at the Royal Theatre today. Alexander Korda's eagerly-awaited film production of the immortal Tolstoy novel stars Vivien Leigh in the title role with Ralph Richardson and Kieron Moore.

ATLAS THEATRE Mary O'Hara's widely read and loved adventures in the New West come to a blazing screen climax in "Green Grass of Wyoming," the new Twentieth Century-Fox hit starring Peggy Cummins, Charles Coburn and Robert Arthur. Photographed in color by Technicolor in the spectacular scenic mountains of Utah, the picture is now showing at the Atlas Theatre.

PLAZA THEATRE The world's greatest sports event of the year, the Olympic Games, can be seen now at the Plaza Theatre. The J. Arthur Rank presentation of the "XIVth Olympiad" is filmed in spectacular color by Technicolor On the same program is a Cisco Kid thriller, "King of the Bandits."

ODEON THEATRE Here is a motion picture which captures all the stark realism and drama, all the adventure, of one of the finest novels ever written Here indeed is great entertainment—J. Arthur Rank's presentation of Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist," now showing at the Odeon Theatre.

According to Culbertson

(Copyright, 1948, by Ely Culbertson)

A full honor trick over and above the requirements for an opening bid is nice to have—but it does not automatically justify the holder to become ambitious. "Distribution" remains a paramount issue. Consider this case.

South dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ Q J 10 5
♥ 6 3
♦ A Q 5
♣ A 10 8 4

WEST
♠ 6 2
♥ J 10 9 8
♦ K J 7 6
♣ J 5 3

EAST
♠ 8 7 3
♥ Q 5 4
♦ 10 9 8
♣ K Q 9 6

SOUTH
♠ A K 9 4
♥ A K 7 2
♦ 4 3 2
♣ 7 2

The bidding

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 N T	Pass	5 ♥	Pass
5 N T	Pass	6 ♣	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Although the diamond finesse was won, there was no possible way for South to avoid the loss of a diamond and a cluub, and so the slam contract came to grief.

It is obvious that South should have been satisfied with a contract of only four spades. True, the combined hands had seven honor tricks, and in a large proportion of deals this total is enough for a laydown slam. In this case, however, neither one had a singleton, nor a side suit of sufficient length or strength to be establishable.

Thus, despite the fact that South had one full honor trick more than he required for an opening bid, he should not have considered bidding four no trump over his partner's double raise As a matter of fact, even a bid of four hearts by South would have been questionable

Needless to say, North was blameless throughout the bidding, since his first response was correct and his later responses, to the Blackwood convention, were automatic. The fault was exclusively South's for not realizing that while his hand was strong in honor tricks it was virtually a minimum in winners. A meek four spades was the best bid on the second round

Why Massage Is So Helpful

By DR. J. B. WARREN

The reason why massage is so helpful in many cases is because it hastens and strengthens the circulation of the blood. If you do any unusual physical work, the materials manufactured in your muscles have just the same effect as something in your eye The tears come and wash the object away. Massage gets everything (wastes) moving wastes away in the blood stream. A hot bath followed by a rub-down gets wastes away in a short time and you are ready for work the next day. Without heat and massage wastes might remain in the muscles two or three days.

Little Stories for Bedtime

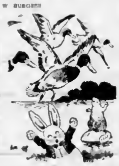

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

PETER SEES THE QUACKS OFF

The days were growing shorter and the nights cooler. The leaves of the Green Forest, except those on the pine and the spruce and the hemlock trees, were turning red and yellow and brown and dropping to carpet the ground and rustle beneath unwary feet. As often as possible Peter Rabbit slipped over to the pond of Paddy the Beaver to see if Mr. and Mrs. Quack and the ten young Quacks were still there and each time he found them growing more and more uneasy. He knew that it would take very little to start them on their long journey to spend the coming Winter in the far away Southland, the sight of other Ducks flying overhead, or a sudden fright.

Just at dusk every evening they flew over to the Big River to feed among the rushes there, Mr. Quack leading. His wing, which you remember had been broken by shot from a terrible gun in the Spring was as sound and strong as ever. In fact Mr. Quack was quite himself, big, strong, and handsome As for the young Quacks, they were full grown now and eager to try their wings in long flights and to see the Great World. Very early every morning they returned to the pond of Paddy the Beaver deep in the Green Forest to spend the day resting, sleeping, and perhaps playing a little. At least the young Quacks played.

One afternoon Peter slipped away from the dear old Brier Patch over to the Green Forest and hurried straight to the pond of Paddy the Beaver. Peter had something on his mind. Just by chance he had peeped out of the dear Old Brier Patch just in time to see a man passing, and under one arm he carried a terrible gun. There was no doubt about that Peter knows a terrible gun when he sees it. He watched the man out of sight, and he disappeared in the direction of the Big River. Right away Peter thought of the Quack family. Just supposing that hunter should be hiding near where the Quacks usually ate their evening meal? Peter shivered a little at the thought of what might happen. Mr. and Mrs. Quack should be warned, and there was no one to do it but himself.

"Good-bye and Good Luck!" Cried Peter and Paddy the Beaver Together

Peter started early enough, but as is his way he had to stop ever so many times to look at things which aroused his curiosity. When he had satisfied it he would remember his errand and scamper lipperty-lipperty-lip as fast as he could until something else stopped him. So it was almost the Quack dinner time when at last, quite out of breath, he reached the edge of the pond of Paddy the Beaver. He was greatly relieved to see all the Quack family still there.

"Oh," he panted. "I'm just in time."

"Just in time for what?" asked Mr Quack.

"To warn you that it isn't safe for you to go to the Big River tonight," cried Peter. "I saw a hunter with a terrible gun going that way this afternoon, and he may be there yet."

If Peter expected that his news would excite the Quack family he was mistaken, very much mistaken In fact, it wasn't news at all. "We saw a hunter over there last night, and so we knew that the time has come for us to go," explained Mr Quack "We're ever so much obliged to you, Peter, for trying to warn us, and we're glad you've come in time to say good-bye. Perhaps we'll see you again next Spring Take care of yourself and don't let Reddy Fox catch you. Goodbye, Peter, Good-bye Paddy"

"Good-bye, and good luck," cried Peter and Paddy the Beaver together.

Mr Quack swam out to the head of his flock Very faintly from far away there came the bang of a gun As if this was a signal Mr Quack shot into the air, and behind him rose all the other Quacks. There was a shrill sound of whistling wings which grew fainter and fainter until it could no longer be heard High in the air twelve black specks grew smaller and smaller and then disappeared. Mr. and Mrs. Quack and their ten children had started on their long, terrible journey to the faraway Southland

Peter felt a lump in his throat "I do hope nothing will happen to them," said he in a husky voice

"If it were not for the hunters with terrible guns nothing would for Mr Quack is smart enough to keep them from all other dangers and he has brought his children up to mind. They are as well trained a lot of young ducks as ever I've seen, and I've seen a great many," replied Paddy. "But I dread those terrible guns," he added.

Finance–Commerce–Markets

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP).—For the second time this month the stock market could not make the grade. Declines were small, though, and a substantial number of issues crept a little higher. Volume slackened as prices backed down, which Wall Street considers a favorable sign in a declining market.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, Oct. 8 (CP).—Prices weakened as trading slackened on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Industrials mixed gains and losses in narrow range, and base metals showed a slightly weaker tone as slight profit-taking cut into Thursday's advances. Golds were quiet, and the handful of Western oils trading held steady.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (AP).—A sharp increase in cash corn prices did not spark much enthusiasm for grain futures on the Board of Trade. The market started out firm, but met heavy going when profit-taking increased in the second half of the session.

Decrease Seen In Number Of Job Hunters

There has been a slight decrease in the number of unemployed in Victoria during the past week, according to C. A. Mudge, manager of the National Employment Service office.

Mr. Mudge said the employment picture in Victoria had seen very little change throughout the entire Summer.

"There is no unusual demand for labor at the present time," he said. "We still have a fair demand for labor at points outside Victoria, and during the past week we have sent several men to points in the interior of British Columbia."

Overall employment ratio in the city during the past week was 4.8 applicants for every available job. During the previous week the ratio was 5.7 to one.

"Although there has been a decrease in the number of applicants for jobs, there has also been a decrease in the number of job openings," explained Mr. Mudge.

Employment ratio for women last week was 2.7 to one, compared to 2.9 to one the previous week. Male ratio was 5.3 to one last week, compared to 6.1 to one during the previous week.

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, Oct. 8 (CP).—The United Kingdom was allocated 300,000 bushels of wheat on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. In coarse grain futures, more liberal offerings appeared in oats and barley, particularly in barley. Prices generally showed an easier tone in both grains.

Your Health and Your Weight

By James W. Barton, M.D.

WHY THE 18-DAY DIET IS NOT USED NOW

From time to time we hear about the 18-day diet to acquire ideal weight for the build, but fortunately no one attempts to use this diet which swept not only throughout the United States but also throughout the civilized world, causing hundreds of deaths and leaving many men and women invalids for life.

It is not hard to understand why the original patent nostrum was under contract to begin making its 18 days. She was an actress who was under contract to begin making a picture 14 days from the date she consulted her physician. In order to attain this weight by the contract day, the physician had to use very severe measures so that her diet would not have been safe had she not remained in bed or at complete rest during the entire 18 days.

Unfortunately, thousands of women, who tried to follow the diet, did not realize that complete rest was part of the treatment and went about their housework or other work in the office or factory. In with disastrous effects. Some idea of the ill effects of the 18-day diet was stated by Dr. Harry Everett Barnard, director of the White House Conference on Child Health back in 1930.

"The Eighteen Day Diet has done more harm to the country than a war; putting the body on a starvation diet for 18 days is as ill-advised as running an automobile engine without oil for an indefinite period. In my opinion, the human body cannot fail to be injured by depriving it of necessary elements of nutrition over a long period of time."

There is neither butter, fat, nor starch in the 18-day diet, the three elements needed to keep the body processes going even if the body-building proteins are, or are not, eaten.

The reason that the 18-day diet became popular immediately was because "safe" methods of reducing weight take weeks and months to be effective. To be able to acquire a youthful figure in 18 days was a temptation to every overweight man and woman, and, unfortunately, a temptation to those of normal weight who wished to obtain slimness or a boyish figure.

The first organ to show signs of damage from the 18-day diet was the heart. There was weakness, breathlessness, a faint feeling when frightened many and they resumed their regular diet, thus saving their vitality and perhaps their life.

Where the heart was not noticeably affected by this diet, the great loss of fat tissue proved dangerous. A certain percentage of fat in relation to build is needed by the body, not only for certain regular "fixed" needs of the body, but also to hold the abdominal organs in their proper positions.

We have perhaps all seen the great amount of fat surrounding the kidneys in animals. The human kidneys, too, need fat to keep them from dropping down, "floating" from their proper position. The kidneys are really the chief organs which remove wastes or harmful substances from the blood; they must be held in their proper position to do their work.

Similarly the stomach, the liver and intestines all need some fat in and about their lining of the lesser omenta or folds of tissue that hold them to the backbone or spinal column. The loss of this supporting fat caused "shock" to all the organs. It was a shock that caused the collapse.

The idea of the 18-day diet—putting down on fats and starches, and letting the body fat be used—could be all right if the time allotted was 18 weeks or even 18 months.

The fresh-water area of Canada constitutes more than six per cent of the country's total area.

Indians Lead World Series On Bearden's Fine Pitching

Rookie Southpaw Blanks Braves, 2-0— Sain to Oppose Gromek in Game Today

By GAYLE TALBOT

CLEVELAND, Oct. 8 (AP)—Cheered on by a tumultuous home town crowd, Southpaw Gene Bearden pitched a brilliant 2-0 victory over Boston Braves today in the third game of the 1948 world series.

In sending the American League champions out in front, two triumphs to one, Bearden allowed only five hits scattered over as many innings and himself scored the deciding run after powering a long double to right field in the third inning.

The shutout was the second pitched since the series opened two days ago in Boston. Johnny Sain stopped the Indians, 1-0, in the starter — the spectacular duel in which Bobby Feller lost a two-hitter.

Through today's tussle, the impotent Braves had scored exactly twice in three tries against Cleveland's mound staff. When Bearden finished with Billy Southworth's boys today, they looked as though they might never score again.

The paid attendance, finally computed in the evening after the returns were cross-checked, came to a mighty 70,306, but considerably under the capacity of the park and well below the series record of 74,065 set in Yankee Stadium last year.

HITS SCARCE

Despite the exhortations of their delirious followers, the Indians themselves did little serious clubbing against the three Boston flingers they faced today. Their total hit output was only five, but they were fortunate in bunching four of them in their two scoring innings, the third and fourth.

Vern Bickford, rookie right-hander, gave up both Cleveland runs before he was derricked in favor of Bill Voiselle with the bases loaded in the fourth. Voiselle and Red Barrett, who hurled the final frame, allowed the Tribe only one hit the rest of the way, a harmless single by Larry Doby in the seventh.

An amazing feature of Bearden's great performance was the fact he was pitching his third vital game in seven days. Last Saturday the tall southpaw shut out Detroit here to keep the Indians in the torrid American League finish, and on Monday in Boston he beat the Red Sox in a sudden-death play-off for the pennant.

GREAT CONTROL

His control was so superb today that he issued not a single walk. He struck out four, and toward the last the Braves were so desperate they were bunting to lead off an inning.

Bearden, who was wounded in the fighting in the Pacific and is a well-patched-up athlete, permitted only four balls to be swatted to his outfielders. He handled six chances himself as the Boston batters topped his down-breaking curves into the turf.

Lack of control led to Bickford's downfall. The rookie issued five passes and one of them led to Cleveland's second run in the fourth inning.

For two frames the Indians futilely swung at the youngster's slants, and it wasn't until Bearden rocketed one off the right field wall with one out in the third that the crowd had anything to cheer about.

Apparently rattled by the blow, Bickford walked Dale Mitchell on five pitches to bring up Doby, Cleveland's fleet negro centre-fielder, and then it happened.

COSTLY ERROR

Doby slapped a hard grounder down to little Eddie Stanky at second, and the latter wheeled and snapped to Alvin Dark, Braves' shortstop, for a forceout. Dark, in his anxiety to complete a double play, pegged high over Frank McCormick's noggin at first, and Bearden easily dug on around to score.

It was the third error for Dark in the last two days, and it was rough on his fellow rookie Bickford. But the right-hander averted the final blow-off until the next inning.

He opened the fourth by serving his fifth walk to Ken Keltner. Walt Judnich, Cleveland right fielder, struck out, but big Ed Robinson followed with a single to left and Catcher Jim Hegan jammed a safety into centre to propel Keltner across. When Bearden followed with a short shot into left to fill the sacks, Bickford was replaced.

Voiselle, the eccentric right-hander who used to hurl for New York Giants, turned in a commendable job of stopping the riot. He retired the side without another run as Mitchell and Doby failed to hit beyond the infield. In all, the man from Ninety-Six, N.C., served to a dozen Indian batters before he retired for a pinch-hitter in the eighth, and he gave up one small single.

KNUCKLER BAFFLES

All this relief pitching was wasted, however, as Bearden wove his magic spell over the collection of athletes whom Billy Southworth somehow drove to a National League flag. Something like four out of every five of Bearden's pitches were knucklers, which dipped and wobbled across the plate.

Billy Southworth had little choice than to come back to Sain, his big, tobacco-chewing right-hander, in tomorrow's fourth struggle.

Boudreau, now in the driver's seat, was able to announce that he would go with Steve Gromek, a rather undistinguished right-hander, in the fourth. Among baseball men, the feeling had been that Boudreau would come right back with Feller the instant Southworth nominated Sain again.

Ab Box Doubtful On Grid Comeback

By The Canadian Press

Ab Box was never very keen on a football comeback and a couple of practice sessions with Toronto Argonauts convinced him.

The 39-year-old triple-threat star of the 1930's said last night he didn't think he'd make the try, anyway "not this week-end."

Argos had tried to recruit him after heavy injuries left them under-staffed in the backfield.

Indians Praise Bearden

By FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND, Oct. 8 (AP).—Cleveland Indians were about as excited after winning today's world series game as a veteran poker player after winning a small pot on a pair of jacks.

Gene Bearden, the wounded war hero who left-handed the Braves into submission, was patted on the back in the quiet clubhouse by Catcher Jim Hegan, who declared:

"There was one game I could have caught from a rocking chair. This guy was terrific today."

"Tomorrow is the big game," Boss Lou Boudreau of the Tribe said. "That Johnny Sain can be tough. We found that out when he beat us in the first one. We'll start Steve Gromek."

Just how much strain the Indians are under in this series was illustrated by Boudreau when he said:

"This was the best game Bearden has pitched all year. He was great in Monday's play-off with the Red Sox, but the tension was on in that one. Today Gene, with no pressure on him, had fine control and a lot of stuff."

Someone asked how many men Bearden walked, and the big pitcher yelled across the room:

"Heck, I can tell you. I didn't walk any. And it's the first time this year, too."

Bearden said he mixed up his knuckler, fast ball and slider, with a couple of screwballs here and there. Several times, on 2-2 counts, he came in with the knuckler, and each time got his man. Bearden said he hit a curve ball for his double in the third frame as he scored the run which won the contest.

The only extra-base hit off him, a double by Shortstop Alvin Dark with two out in the sixth, "was on a high slider that got away from me," the Tribe moundsman said.

Walks, Errors Costly to Braves

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 8 (AP).—The silence was not only dead but deadly in Boston Braves dressing room.

The Boston players, who had won the opening game of the World Series only to fall behind with two straight losses, were conversing in low tones among themselves and with reporters who came in to ask what happened.

Suddenly Mike McCormick raised his voice: "We're going to score some runs pretty soon," he shouted. Then in slightly lower tones: "We'll have to wait till next Spring if we don't."

That seemed to cover the entire situation.

Vern Bickford, the slender, black-haired young pitcher who gave up both Cleveland runs was fully dressed, listening to the finish of the game on a portable radio, before his teammates trooped in.

"It was just a matter of control. I couldn't put the ball where I wanted to," Vern sadly explained.

Manager Billy Southworth said sadly of Gene Bearden, "of course he's good. He pitched a wonderful game. But our pitchers did well too—all of them.

"Pitching has predominated throughout the series, but when you don't get more than one hit in any inning it's pretty rough. In the over-all picture they have had just two more hits than we have—five and five today, eight and eight yesterday. It's the bases on balls and errors that have hurt us."

Southworth refused to blame anyone for the team's mistakes.

Camera Records Fateful Play for Feller in First Series Game

Oakland Leads P.C.L. Play-Off

OAKLAND, Oct. 8 (AP).—Billy Martin's triple with the bases loaded broke up a pitchers' battle between Oakland's Will Hafey and Seattle's Bob Hall and gave the Oaks the third game of the Pacific Coast League Governor's Cup final play-off, 5-3.

Oakland took a 2-1 edge in the seven-game series.

Walks figured in most of the scoring. In the fourth inning Seattle Manager Jo-Jo White and Earl Rapp drew passes and scored on Bob Johnson's double.

The Oaks tied it up in the sixth when George Metkovich and Nick Etten walked and scored on singles by Les Scarsella and Merrill Combs.

Martin's game-winning triple came after Etten doubled and the bases were loaded with walks to Scarsella and Combs.

In the ninth the Suds threatened when an error and successive singles by Skeeter Newsome and Mickey Grasso produced a run, but Hafey put down the rally by fanning Pinch-hitter Jack Warren.

The teams will be idle tomorrow. A double-header is scheduled for Sunday.

Peden Retires From Race After Crack-Up

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 8 (AP). — Torchy Peden of Victoria retired from the international six-day bike race tonight after one of the worst local crack-ups in the sport's history slashed the field to seven teams.

In all, six riders retired or were carried off the track. The mishaps, which followed each other in rapid succession during a wild jam, left the leadership with Charlie Bergna of Paterson, N.J., and Bill Anderson of Cleveland.

Peden's partner, Rene Cyr of Montreal, teamed with Cesare Moretti, partner of Angelo di Bacco, who was carried from the arena with a back injury.

Jules Audy of Chicago, formerly of Montreal, suffered a broken wrist when he swerved trying to avoid a spill and catapulted over the rail into the spectators.

Hugo Koblet of Switzerland suffered a broken arm.

Peden, Cyr and Audy were behind the leaders when the crack-ups occurred.

Title Bout Set

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP).—Featherweight Champion Willie Pep and Challenger Sandy Saddler today signed official contracts for their 15-round title bout in Madison Square Garden October 29.

Each posted $1,000 forfeit cheques with the New York State Athletic Commission.

Rangers in Hospital After Auto Accident

MONTREAL, Oct. 8 (CP).—Four New York Ranger hockey players were brought to hospital here tonight after an automobile accident five miles this side of the Canadian border near Rouse's Point, N.Y.

Most severely injured were Hubert (Buddy) O'Connor, high-scoring centre, who suffered possible broken ribs, and Defenceman Frankie Eddolls, who received lacerations of one knee.

The others were Centre Edgar Laprade, with a broken nose and Defenceman Bill Moe, who had 15 stitches taken in a scalp wound.

Dr. George Little, who treated the players, said "all were unconscious when they arrived here.

"All are in fairly good condition except Edgar Laprade whose nose injury is extremely painful."

O'Connor, runner-up to Montreal's Elmer Lach for the National Hockey League scoring title last season, told hospital authorities their automobile was struck by a truck which came onto the main highway from a side road.

The players were en route to the Rangers' Saranac Lake, N.Y., training camp after playing a three-game exhibition against Quebec amateur teams.

Tony Leswick, another Ranger player, was in the same car but escaped uninjured and was able to continue to Saranac Lake.

O'Connor, who was traded to Rangers by Montreal Canadiens before the last campaign, had the best season of his seven-year National League career with the Blueshirts, winning both the Hart trophy for being voted the most valuable player and the Lady Byng award for most sportsmanlike player.

He was nosed out for the scoring crown by Lach on the final night of the schedule.

Oak Bay Forward

DON ROBINSON

Speedy forward with Oak Bay's district football eleven who will be in action today at Royal Athletic Park when suburban club tangles with Canadian Legion in opening game of Victoria and District Football Association season. District clubs appear evenly matched at this stage of season and some good soccer is in prospect. Other two clubs swing into action tomorrow at Bullen Park with clash between Esquimalt and Victoria Wests. Game time today is 2 30 p.m.

Royals Lead

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 8 (AP). — Clarence (Spike) Podbielan gave up but five hits tonight as his Montreal Royals swamped St. Paul's Saints, 15-1, to take a 2-1 lead in the Little World Series, to be concluded in Montreal. The losers used five pitchers in a futile effort to stem the 20-hit Royal barrage. Podbielan had a no-hitter until the fifth inning.

		R.	H.	E.
Montreal	302 140 032—15	20	2

Kennel Club Show Today

The Victoria City Kennel Club annual Autumn championship show gets under way today at Bay Street Armoury with 211 entries in all classes. American entries have been received from many points, including California, Oregon and Washington.

Terrier class with smooth and wire haired fox terriers, scotties, Westies, Cairns and Kerry Blues, has drawn 54 entries and will be judged at 10 a.m. by Anton Korbel, noted California judge.

Sporting group made up of setters, pointers, retrievers and spaniels, totals 44 entries, while the working group of bloodhounds, German shepherds and Boxers amounts to 30. Pekingese, Pomeranians and Chihuahuas make up the toy group with 34 entries. Fourteen bloodhounds, Afghans and dachshunds comprise the sporting hound group, while non-sporting entries include 24 English bulldogs and Boston terriers. A total of 39 different breeds will be represented in the record-breaking entry list.

PARADE OF CHAMPIONS

Judging of the All-Breed Terrier Specialty Show will be commenced at 2 30 p.m. by Joseph Dodds of Vancouver. In the evening at 8, judging will take place for best in the group, best all breeds and best Canadian bred, followed by a grand parade of champions.

Sir Roderick of Ogden, bloodhound owned by South Vancouver Island Rangers, will also be paraded, and it is hoped he will give a demonstration of his tracking powers. Feature of the evening parading is the showing of a Weimaraner dog, the first time a dog of this breed has been exhibited in Western Canada. Often referred to as "Grey Ghost," this dog was originally bred in Germany for hunting bear, deer and wildcats, and was later trained to hunt lesser game.

'Old Barney' Retained By Dodgers

BROOKLYN, Oct. 8 (AP).—Branch Rickey today announced that Burt Shotton will manage Brooklyn's Dodgers again next season.

Today's sudden announcement by the Brooklyn president and general manager put to rest recent rumors that Shotton would be retired and that Bucky Harris, former New York Yankee pilot, would take over the Brooklyn field job.

Rickey, in a statement, said "Shotton is presently following the little world series observing several players on the Montreal and St. Paul teams (both Brooklyn farm clubs) who will be part of the Brooklyn squad when it assembles for training at Vero Beach, Fla., next March."

Several players from the Fort Worth team, another Dodger farm, also will be with the squad.

"I hope and expect that the managers of all our championship clubs will be retained for next year," Rickey said.

"Twenty-two of our Minor League affiliates finished in the first division, and, by and large, I am not disposed to change the management at any point, except in some cases for the purposes of deserved promotion."

Brooklyn has 27 minor league farms in its chain.

Game Receipts Set All-Time Series Record

CLEVELAND, Oct. 8 (AP).—A paid attendance of 70,306 at today's world series game failed to set a record, as expected, but the $345,814 net receipts was an all-time series high.

The scalpers took a beating as hundreds of choice seats went empty and others were unloaded by the sharpers at a loss.

The number of spectators who watched Cleveland Indians beat Boston Braves, 2-0, in the third game of the series and the first in the huge Municipal Stadium was well under the 74,065 mark set in Yankee Stadium in the Brooklyn-New York series last year.

But the cash after taxes was well ahead of the single-game net receipts established at the same game —$327,650.

Today's receipts swelled the players' pool to $350,110, and they still have a cut coming from tomorrow's game—a share which may exceed the $176,263 added to the purse today. The record world series player pool is $495,574, another mark from last year's series.

Team Spirit, Hap Day's Ability May Nab Title for Maple Leafs

TORONTO, Oct. 8 (CP). — The coaching skill of Clarence (Happy) Day and a superb team spirit may bring Toronto Maple Leafs their third consecutive Stanley Cup and world hockey championship.

This was the view expressed today by Managing Director Conny Smythe, who said that the loss through retirement of two great players—Syl Apps and Nick Metz—had reduced Toronto player strength to a level with the other five teams in the league.

Players like that pair aren't replaced in a season. Apps often provided the spark which enabled the Leafs to turn seeming defeat into victory. Metz, less spectacular, was a great penalty-killer and had the faculty of popping in important goals.

MAKES DIFFERENCE

Said Smythe. "But, as the horse racing men say, we still have the best horse in the barn in Happy Day as coach and that's going to make a lot of difference. And we have a better team spirit."

The Leafs still have two of the greatest centre players in hockey. Replacing Apps as team captain is Ted Kennedy, the Port Colborne, Ont., boy, who at 22 is a veteran of six National Hockey League seasons. One of the game's greatest competitors, he is flanked by Wingers Howie Meeker and Vic Lynn, who have played beside him for two seasons.

Max Bentley, who came to the Leafs last season in the famed five-for-two deal with Chicago Black Hawks, is playing with two promising rookies—Les Costello and Fleming Mackell. This line shapes up as a potent scoring threesome. The only question mark at this stage is its backchecking ability.

TAKES CENTRE SPOT

Cal Gardiner, who came to the Leafs in an off-season deal that sent veteran Wally Stanowski to New York Rangers, may take over Apps' old centre spot between Harry Watson and Bill Ezinicki. Or the job may go to rookie Bobby Dawes, who has been centring the line while Gardiner is out with injuries.

The other forward is handyman Joe Klukay, a left-hand shot who has played all three forward positions in his two seasons with the Leafs. A 16-goal scorer last season, he is a great hand at killing off penalties.

Four defencemen who helped win the Stanley Cup for Toronto in the last two seasons are back. Gus Mortson and Jimmy Thomson form one pair. The other duo is made up of Garth Boesch and bashing Bill Barilko. An added prospect is Frank Mathers, a Winnipeg boy who played with Ottawa Senators last season and came to the Leafs in the Stanowski deal.

VETERAN GOALIE

Back in goal is Vezina Trophy winner Turk Broda, one of the league's most capable netminders since he broke into big time with the Leafs in the 1936-37 season. The 34-year-old happy-go-lucky veteran from Brandon is cool under fire and has about as sharp a pair of eyes as there are in the league.

Day brings 23 seasons in the N.H.L. as player, referee and coach to his task of directing the club. In his seven seasons as a coach the 47-year-old native of Owen Sound, Ont., has led his team to four Stanley Cup wins, along with one N.H.L. championship.

The Leafs make their first home-ice appearance of the season in a charity exhibition next Tuesday night, October 12. They start their league campaign at home Saturday, October 16, against Boston Bruins.

English Woman In 100-Mile Bicycle Event

MONTREAL, Oct. 8 (CP).—Blonde Marguerite Wilson, holder of British women's cycling records, is starting out as the only woman in a field of men tomorrow in the Dominion 100-mile cycle race.

On the eve of the Montreal Ste.-Agathe race, Margaret, wife of British Overseas Airways Corporation pilot, Arnold Stone, said "conditions are a bit different over here. I am not sure just how I will make out."

She is used to racing by the stop watch. Her mark of 2 days 2 hours and 52 minutes in 1939 for the 870 miles from Land's End to John O'Groats topped all women's times in that British classic.

Although she has raced against men in several Canadian events she still hasn't got used to riding in massed formation.

"I am not sure about this idea of riding wheel to wheel," she said. "We'll have to wait and see."

But one thing she is sure of—she won't walk up any hills. British sports writers nicknamed her "Start and Finish." In her record-making jaunt from one end of Britain to the other, she recalled that she never got off her bike for a hill and much of the race was against the wind.

Woodcock Sought For Charles Bout

LONDON, Oct. 8 (AP).—Tom Hurst, manager of British Heavyweight Champion Bruce Woodcock, said tonight he was considering an offer to have his boxer meet Ezzard Charles, of Cincinatti, in Madison Square Garden, in New York on November 12.

Hurst said that the Twentieth Century Sporting Club wanted Woodcock as a substitute for Joe Baksi of Kulpmont, Pa., who withdrew from the Charles bout this week because of a hand injury.

In New York, the Twentieth Century Club said that negotiations with Hurst were under way.

Crucial Game Set Today in Big Nine

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 8 (AP).—The Big Nine's two strongest Rose Bowl contenders, Northwestern and Minnesota, match unbeaten records and bids for the conference title before a capacity 47,000 football fans at Dyche Stadium tomorrow.

Although defending champion Michigan which plays Purdue at La Fayette, Ind., tomorrow possibly may retain its league crown, the Wolverines are ineligible for another Rose Bowl trip.

Explorer Favored In Cambridgeshire

LONDON, Oct. 8 (AP).—Explorer remained the favorite at 100-8 in tonight's call-over of betting odds for the mile-and-one-eighth Cambridgeshire handicap at Newmarket October 27.

Second favorite was Specialty, unchanged at 100 to 7. Asylum was third at 20 to 1.

Woodburn, previously quoted at 100 to 8 for next Wednesday's two-and-a-quarter-mile Cesarewitch Stakes, shortened to 10-1. The two races form Britain's Fall betting feature, the "Autumn double."

Speedy Cougar

AL DENONI

Former backfielder who will likely get into game as end when Lou Mogul's Cougars meet Vancouver Eagletime Athletic Club here at Royal Athletic Park Monday. Cougars took 17-6 decision from Mainlanders last month and are scheduled to meet them on their home grounds today. E.A.C.'s are said to have been considerably strengthened and Monday's game should be best of season with Cougars steadily gaining football knowledge under tutoring of Mogul. Game time Monday is 2:30 p.m.

Stampeders Win

CALGARY, Oct. 8 (CP).—Defenceman Chuck Millman tonight pulled the game out of the fire for Calgary Stampeders when he drilled home the winning goal less than two minutes from end of play to give the Calgarians a 4-3 decision over Kimberley Dynamiters before a crowd of about 1,500 fans.

The victory gave Stamps three games out of four in their pre-season exhibition series with the B.C. sextette.

AGA KHAN SELECTS SMIRKE

LONDON, Oct. 8 (AP).— The Aga Khan has selected Charlie Smirke, one of Britain's top jockeys, to ride his three-year-old Nathoo in the $100,000 Empire City Gold Cup at New York's Belmont Park, October 16. Smirke plans to fly to New York next Friday.

One-Game Suspension For Calgary Lineman

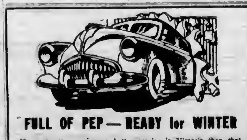

REGINA, Oct. 7 (CP).—The Western Canada Football Conference announced today Bill Pullar of Calgary Stampeders has been suspended for one game.

Decision on the tackle, All-Western last year, followed his eviction for rough play from a game at Winnipeg, Monday, against Bombers. Pullar will sit out Saturday's contest against the same club.

King's Stable Scores

ASCOT, England, Oct. 8 (AP).—The King's stable scored a racing double today. It was the third twin triumph of the season for the Royal Stables.

The King's two-year-old colt, Berrylands, won the Duke of Edinburgh Stakes at six furlongs, and his three-year-old filly, Young Entry, took the Mornington Stakes at 1½ miles.

Non-Title Bout Set for Cerdan

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP).—Promoter Andy Niederreiter said tonight Marcel Cerdan, recently-crowned middleweight champion, will make his next appearance for Tournament of Champions in a non-title fight at the Jersey City, N.J., armoury in mid-January.

Niederreiter said arrangements have been made to have the Frenchman meet an opponent yet to be selected.

Cerdan won the championship by knocking out Tony Zale in Jersey City, September 21 under auspices of the Tournament of Champions.

Refuse to Quote New Series Odds

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8 (AP).—Cleveland's chances of winning the World Series looked so strong to Betting Commissioner James J. Carroll after today's game he refused to post new series odds. He figured they would have to be so long there wouldn't be any takers.

For the fourth game he quoted these figures:

Cleveland (Gromek) 8-2.

Motorcycle Climb Scheduled Monday

Victoria Motorcycle Club will stage its 21st annual Thanksgiving Day hill climb at Mount Douglas Park on Monday at 1:30 p.m.

Class C machines, which normally weigh between 400 and 500 pounds, have been stripped down to the bare necessities in preparation for the test. Club members have also tuned up their motors and promise keen competition in the annual classic.

WANDERERS LINE-UP

Following is Wanderers second division line-up for today's Rugby match with Naden at Colville Road.

R. Bayne, B. Beaton, C. Blythe, J. Olsen, R. Fraser, J. Mill, G. Jacklin, M. Vidler, L. Prevost, B. MacClaren, R. Hutchison, W. Prevost, J. Griffith, I. Young, D. Whittingham, E. Estlin.

Players will meet at Municipal Hall at 1:30.

LOUIS EXHIBITION SET

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 8 (AP).—The Arena management announced today that Bernie Reynolds of Fairfield, New England heavyweight champion, and world's heavyweight champion Joe Louis have been signed for a six-round exhibition fight here November 9.

Hunters Report Aircraft Crash

PROSPECT, Ore., Oct. 8 (AP).—A four-engined plane was reported by two hunters to have crashed near here today, but M. L. Tedrow of the Forest Service said the report lacked verification.

Tedrow said the hunters said they saw a four-engined plane—at a distance—circle and then dive. They neither saw nor heard a crash.

Tedrow said the plane could have merely gone behind a hill in this mountainous, timbered Southern Oregon country.

AMHERST, N.S. (CP)—The Amherst Board of Trade is conducting a survey to determine the amount of warehouse space in the Maritimes.

Boss of Canadiens Confident Of Gaining Western Pucksters

MONTREAL, Oct. 8 (CP).—The old Biblical phrase that many are called and few are chosen applies to hockey as to other walks of life.

These were the words with which Frank Selke, general manager of Montreal Canadiens, greeted newspapermen today after completion of his inspection tour of the club's farm system from Halifax to Edmonton in Canada and as far south as Dallas, Texas.

With tongue in cheek, he was reluctant to estimate how many of the thousands of Canadian boys playing under the Montreal hockey "empire" would eventually find their way into big-time puck lanes.

Pleased with the results of his safari, the general manager expressed belief that Montreal "will bring out of the West young hockey players who previously paid their allegiance to Toronto Maple Leafs."

BROADCAST EFFECT

"More and more fans in Western Canada are being made to realize that they have another team to cheer for besides the Maple Leafs who are superlatively popular across Canada because of the Toronto Saturday night coast-to-coast hockey broadcasts," he said.

It had been difficult to interest Western youngsters in Canadiens because from their earliest days they were accustomed to making Toronto their mystic home team, Selke added.

"We now find a great number of youngsters switching their allegiance to the Habitants."

Selke, who came to Montreal from Toronto three years ago, has been one of the staunchest supporters of junior hockey in Canada. Shortly after his arrival here he introduced a new farm system to the Canadien club, similar to one the Maple Leafs had used successfully for ten years.

DISAPPOINTING TOUR

At present, Canadiens are on a Western exhibition tour which also serves as a goodwill mission for the team. Selke intimated that the series was "somewhat disappointing" owing to warm weather and a high football interest.

He said that from the farthest West, Canadiens have the Edmonton Athletic Club with junior, juvenile, midget and bantam teams, embracing more than 300 youngsters.

At Regina, the famous Patricias—Regina Pats—are another affiliation. The club handles an outdoor league embracing 500 boys who performed in 2,300 games last winter.

STRONGEST UNIT

Winnipeg Canadiens have possibly the strongest unit of the chain. Due to the efforts of chief Canadien scout Spud Russell the Montreal parent club has an alliance regarded as the strongest in Manitoba junior hockey. The Winnipeg squad had five players on the Manitoba juvenile all-star team.

Six different clubs are affiliated with Winnipeg Canadiens or their minor affiliated clubs. They included Fort William Columbus Canadians, the oldest junior team in the Thunder Bay district, and Hilda's Canadiens of Port Arthur, organized by Mrs. H. Donati who has become famous for her pee-wee hockey league and coaching ability among boys.

Hilda's Canadiens have juvenile, midget and bantam teams.

Of eight clubs engaged in organized hockey in Port Arthur and Fort William, six are affiliated with Montreal. Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., has an agreement with the Montrealers, but are not expected to play an important part for one or two years owing to the lack of suitable rink accommodation. A new arena is under construction at the steel town.

16 Horses Enter $50,000 Handicap

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP).—Sixteen three-year-olds, possibly encouraged by the absence of Citation, were named today for the $50,000 added Empire City Handicap tomorrow.

King Ranch's Better Self, to be ridden by Eddie Arcaro, tops the weights for the mile and three-sixteenths gallops under 126 pounds.

Ted Atkinson, leading jockey at the recent Belmont meeting and continuing his stellar work in the Empire-at-Jamaica meeting, will be on Maine Chance Farm's Ace Admiral.

Thompson to Aid Vernon Puck Club

VERNON, Oct. 8 (CP).—John McCullough, president of the Vernon Amateur Hockey Association, said today Paul Thompson of Vancouver has been acquired as a consultant coach for the Vernon entry in the Main Line-Okanagan Senior "B" Hockey League.

Due to business pressure in Vancouver, Thompson will be unable to spend the full season at Vernon, but will take over when necessary.

TIP FOR SNORERS

LONDON (CP).—Tip from the British Medical Journal to those who plan to marry, but snore: Strap a small hard object to the back to prevent sleeping on it—the usual cause of snoring.

"I'LL TELL YOU WHY I LIKE STATE EXPRESS"
"I like State Express cigarettes because they satisfy my smoking taste in every way.
They are pleasantly smooth . . . but . . . not too mild.
They are always fresh . . . that's why I enjoy their flavour to the fullest.
They are firmly packed and do not stick to my lips. State Express cigarettes have won me over completely."

HIGH QUADRA NEAR CITY LIMITS ASKING $8500

Lovely Tudor-type stucco residence, built only a few years. Four rooms, full basement, drive-in garage, piped furnace and laundry tubs. Large L.R., 12x20, neat little kitchen, 2 bedrooms and Pembroke bath. Quarter-acre of ground in lawns, fruit and small fruit and vegetable garden. This particular little home is DIFFERENT, having a personality its own and is situated among desirable neighbors and attractive homes. Taxes approx. $47.

Evenings, B 3390

$7850 TODAY'S BEST BUY FIVE ROOMS

Under the acid test of comparison you will find this home will save you at least $1,000, being way under present prices. Situated in city near Oak Bay border on a lot approx. 100x60 with stores, bus and new homes in the vicinity. It's nearly new, has a large L.R., a through hall, a dinette, 2 good bedrooms, a modern sized tile sink, cabinet kitchen, best of lino, a four-piece Pembroke bathroom, best of linoleum. Inside entrance to a high basement with good car space. Lots of oak floors, glass stucco, southern exposure and it carries a guarantee against defect. This is really today's outstanding value. There is no phone information. P.S. The grounds are level, lawn not in yet, never lived in.

Evenings, B 3390

5 ROOMS PLUS EXTRAS

In the Suburbs, Near Shelbourne and Cedar Hill Crossroad

It's a 2-year-built stucco home with basement, 2 nice lots, separate garage, nice modern range and metal Venetian blinds. All for the price of $7850

Different in this respect, if you are a couple there is a nice kitchen, a nice bedroom and attractive L.R. plus bath down; two plastered fully-finished bedrooms up then can be closed off until the children came home. Possession 30 days. Can be bought fully furnished.

Evenings, B 3390

3 BEDROOMS, STUCCO, 6 ROOMS, AND 2-ROOMS AND BATH COTTAGE

$9950 buys the two. The cottage rental set by the board for $30, occupied by young naval couple, has bath and is fully contained. The stucco residence is really beautifully placed, just right for its gable design, on a lot abounding in shrubs, weeping willow and lawn. Built by turning sidewalk and concrete drive to basement garage.

Very large L.R. Ceilings coved. Tapestry walls, all-tile fireplace, raised hearth and built-in bookcase. Dining-room coved ceiling, tapestry walls, modern size. Smart tile sink, cabinet kitchen gives on to a small glassed-in plant room. Two bedrooms and 4-piece bathroom off a cross hall. Represents floor plan. Via concealed stairs a bedroom finished in knotty pine, fully finished with clothes closet. Extra unfinished space for dry storage. Situated in the Gorge district on Maddock Street. Among modern and valuable homes. This requires not one penny spent. Although not necessary has been completely and beautifully redecorated throughout. Mortgage to be assumed around $4,000, monthly payment of $45 includes taxes and 5 per cent interest. Please phone for appointment. Our exclusive listing. Shown by appointment only. Eve., B 3390

AUCTION SALE
TIMBER SALE X44301

There will be offered for sale at Public Auction at 10:00 a.m. on Monday the 8th of November, 1948, in the Office of the District Forester, Marine Building, Vancouver, the licence X44301 to cut 73,795,000 f.b.m. of Fir, Hemlock, Cedar, Balsam and White Pine on an area adjoining Survey Timber Licences 8351p, 8363p, 6734p and 8785p situated on Seventy-Creek, Renfrew Land District.

Five years will be allowed for removal of timber.

"Provided anyone unable to attend the auction in person may submit tender to be opened at the hour of auction and treated as one bid."

Further particulars may be obtained from the Deputy Minister of Forests, Victoria, B.C., or the District Forester, at Vancouver, B.C.

No Fuel-Oil Shortage Indicated To Present Users of Burners

It looks as though the man who owns an oil burner will be able to get all the fuel oil he needs during the coming Winter, as long as he stands by the same dealer he did business with last year.

Despite a rumor that a fuel oil drought might develop in British Columbia by Midwinter, Victoria dealers said yesterday they had received no official indication that they would be faced with a short supply this Winter.

Representatives of both the large oil companies and independent concerns declared a fuel oil shortage was not anticipated. At the same time, it was stated supplies of fuel oil would not be any greater than last year, consequently very few new customers had been taken on.

"Supplies have been coming in regularly, although not in as great quantities as we'd like to see," one dealer said.

Although fuel oil has not jumped in price since the beginning of the year, consumers will be paying between 2½ and 3 cents more per gallon than was the case at the end of last year.

Current price for furnace oil is 14.4 cents, plus ½ cent tax, per gallon. Price of stove oil is 17.6, plus ½ cent tax, per gallon.

Judge Urges Early Hearing On Injunction

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane yesterday urged that hearing on an injunction to stop employees of F. W. Woolworth from taking a second strike vote be held as soon as possible. He suggested it start before November 19 this year.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane granted a motion to continue ex parte injunctions until trial of the action, with costs of the motion reserved until the outcome of the trial is known.

The ex parte injunctions were against the Retail Clerks' Union, Local 270, to stop the defendants from taking a strike vote of employees of the Victoria store. The Labor Relations Board, also named as defendant, was restrained from supervising such a vote.

The action started when the union allegedly announced a strike vote was to be taken in a dispute with the company over a conciliation board decision. The company claimed a previous strike vote on the matter was turned down by employees.

The company applied in Supreme Court to have the injunctions continued.

Woodyard Rule Assailed As "Unfair"

The city's new by-law regulating woodyards drew the ire of four wood companies yesterday.

In a petition to City Council, the dealers claimed that the by-law is unfair legislation and against the interests of the people of Victoria.

They asked deletion of clauses ruling that a woodyard must be enclosed by a fence and that no wood be placed within six feet of the fence.

"It most surely should be our democratic privilege to build or not to build a fence if we choose," they argue in the petition. "It would cut as much as a third off our woodyard properties not to be allowed to pile wood within six feet of the fence line."

They said dealers need all possible space to store and dry wood.

Companies signing the petition were Empire Coal & Wood, Harknett Fuel, J. E. Painter & Sons, and Cameron Wood & Coal.

R. E. Jones Elected To Top Elk Office

R. E. Jones was elected exalted ruler of Victoria Lodge No. 2, B.P.O.E., Thursday night at the Elks Home. He succeeds C. C. Howard.

Others elected to executive posts were: R. P. Collins, leading knight; E. V. Mackie, loyal knight; R. Toplis, lecturing knight; G. V. Milton, secretary-treasurer; A. D. Johnston, inner guard; C. L. Wright, tyler; P. A. Fitzsimmons, A. J. Worth and A. Paton, trustees.

Mayor to Inspect Wartime Houses

Four wartime houses being built under a city agreement with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation will be inspected by Mayor Percy E. George and aldermen next Wednesday morning.

The houses, on Forbes Street near Bay Street, are part of 100 to be occupied by veterans.

City representatives and officials will be accompanied on the inspection by Victor Leigh, a director of Victoria Housing Ltd., builders of the homes.

Provincial Museum To Be Open Monday

The Provincial Museum will be open to the public on Thanksgiving Day, Monday, October 11, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., Dr. G. Clifford Carl, director, announced last night.

At the same time, Mr. Carl extended an invitation to the public to attend an illustrated talk to be given by Lionel Taylor to the Victoria History Society, Tuesday evening, October 12, in the Provincial Library Reading Room.

Title of Mr. Taylor's address is "Flora and Fauna of South Africa."

CITY HALL CLOSED

City Hall will be closed Monday, October 11, for the Thanksgiving holiday.

City Council meeting regularly scheduled for this Monday will be held Tuesday, at 2 p.m., instead.

STORE THREATENED

Firecracker ignited in a hole under a 6x8-foot store window at the corner of Stanley Avenue and Begbie Street smouldered long enough to burn the sill and crack a corner of the window, city police said last night. The small fire was put out by the proprietor, R. H. Galliford, before the arrival of police.

The pine processionary caterpillar of France has no sense of direction and it spins a line every time it leaves its nest so that it can find its way back.

Night Class Registry 60

Incomplete registration is 60 for evening classes in North Saanich High School, officials said yesterday.

They expect further registrations at the next session on Tuesday evening.

Leathercraft classes, held on Thursdays, have attracted 20 students. Also popular are shopwork, commercial subjects and dressmaking.

D. E. Brenckenridge, principal of North Saanich High School, organized the night school. Instructors are Mrs. A. Massey, Mrs. J. Helps, Miss T. Miller, Roy Blodgett and Norman E. West.

Work Starts On Stage Sets

Members of the newly-named Victoria College Theatre started work last night on sets for the plays they will present on November 17-20.

Rehearsals for the four one-act plays started two weeks ago.

The Students' Council approved the group's name change this week. Members of the group voted to drop their old name of Victoria College Players' Club because it was "too exclusive."

"The new name is more accurate because it includes, as well as actors, the people who supervise make-up, costumes, sets and other duties essential to the success of a production," said Robin Terry, president of the theatre.

Call Tenders On North Road

Tenders on 56 miles of the Peace River Highway were called in the British Columbia Gazette by the Provincial Public Works Department yesterday.

The work has been divided into two sections, one of 30 miles extending from Mile 14 to Mile 44 in the Prince George electoral district and the second of 26 miles from Mile 68 to Mile 94 in the Parsnip River-Azouzetta Lake section. For the first portion a deposit of $90,000 is required and for the second a deposit of $150,000. The bids are to be submitted to the department by noon October 26.

Contracts were let previously for the work but the Government withdrew them when the contractors were unable to proceed with the work because of increased costs.

The department hopes the contractors will start grubbing work this Autumn.

Clubs May Appeal Saanich Refusal

The Victoria Riding Academy and Hunt Club likely will go to the Saanich zoning board of appeal after Saanich Council refused permission for erection of a horse-show building and stables on Shelbourne Street.

J. N. Findlay, club president, said yesterday he will call a meeting of the executive to discuss the matter.

Council turned down the club's application because erection of a horse-show building and stables would be contrary to the zoning regulations. The area is now zoned for residential and farming purposes.

The club wishes to build on two lots on Shelbourne Street near Pear Street.

Saanich to Appeal Court's Decision

Saanich Police Commission has decided to appeal the decision of Magistrate H. C. Hall in dismissing a charge of driving a car while intoxicated against Mrs. Laura Mitchell, 724 Newport Avenue.

At a special meeting the commission considered a transcript of the evidence in the case. The decision was announced yesterday by John Tribe, commission secretary.

Mrs. Mitchell was involved in a collision with another car at Cordova Bay about the middle of September, according to Saanich police.

HORSES CAUSES CRASH

A horse that jumped in front of a car caused a collision between the car and the milk wagon the horse drew, city police reported. The car, driven by Natale Maggiora, Feltham Road, was in collision with the wagon, driven by W. Hele, 840 Tolmie Street, at 4:45 p.m. yesterday, police said.

AUTOCYCLE DAMAGED

Accident on Belleville Street between Menzies and Government Streets was reported by city police at 9:10 p.m. yesterday. They said an autocycle, driven by L. Parker, R.R. 1, Victoria, was in collision with a car driven by W. T. Galt, 532 Paradise, damaging the front end of the autocycle. No one was hurt.

The Dirigo, launched in 1894 and designed by the Waddingtons of Liverpool, was the first all-steel sailing ship.

Lights Stolen From Building

Theft of bulbs from the decorative lighting on the Legislative Buildings is causing concern in the Provincial Department of Public Works.

Officials said replacement of the bulbs is costing the department more than the cost of electricity to operate the lighting system.

Since the bulbs are too low-powered to be of use in homes, it is believed they are being taken by thoughtless souvenir hunters.

Col. F. T. Fairey Will Receive U.B.C. Degree

Col. F. T. Fairey, of Victoria, deputy minister of education, will receive an honorary degree at the October 27 Autumn Convocation ceremonies of the University of British Columbia, Dean Henry F. Angus, announced in Vancouver yesterday.

Ira Dilworth, former principal of Victoria High School, now general supervisor of the C.B.C. International Service, will also receive an honorary degree.

Degrees will also be conferred on Dr. Luther Evans, head of United States Congress library; W. S. Wallace, librarian at the University of Toronto, Dr. William Kaye Lamb, U.B.C. librarian and recently-appointed Dominion Archivist; A. R. Lord, principal of Vancouver Normal School, J. B. de Long, former inspector of B.C. schools; and Miss Jessie Gordon, co-founder and former principal of Crofton House Girls' School in Vancouver.

The 32nd Convocation will see the opening of the University's new library wing.

University officials also announced a Rhodes scholarship now is open for competition at U.B.C. One of ten granted throughout Canada, it will offer the winner two years' study at Oxford University with a possible one-year extension and a $2,000 annual income.

Woman Golfer Dies Suddenly

Funeral services for Mrs. Constance Sheffield, prominent city golfer, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at Hayward's Funeral Chapel.

She died suddenly at her home, 2450 Windsor Road, Thursday in her 54th year. Born in Ashfield, Mass., she had been a resident of Victoria for the past 19 years, during which time she has been captain of the Victoria Golf Club's women's team.

Surviving are one son, Geoffrey U. Sheffield, at home; a sister in New York, and a brother in Alabama.

Rev. George Biddle will conduct the funeral services and cremation will follow.

THE CORPORATION OF THE DISTRICT OF SAANICH

ZONING BY-LAW

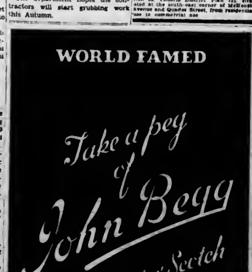

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE is hereby given that all persons who deem themselves affected by the provisions of the proposed "ZONING BY-LAW, 1941, AMENDMENT BY-LAW No. 4, 1948" of the Corporation of the District of Saanich will be afforded an opportunity to be heard on the matters contained therein, before the Municipal Council at a public hearing to be held in the Council Chamber, Municipal Hall, Royal Oak on TUESDAY October 12th 1948 at 4 p.m.

A copy of the proposed by-law may be inspected at the Municipal Hall, Royal Oak between the hours of 9 o'clock a.m. and 5 o'clock p.m. on any weekday except Saturday.

JOHN R. TRIBE,
Clerk of the Corporation of the District of Saanich

The above amendment will have the effect of transferring Lots 71 and 72, Section 32, Victoria District, Plan 721, situated at the south-east corner of McKenzie Avenue and Quadra Street, from residential use to commercial use.

Hawk of the Wilderness

By WILLIAM G. CHESTER

"Dreams of the warrior are troubled," whispered a voice at his ear. "Does he too hear ghost of Awena whistling over camp?"

The startled Indian saw in the dark form only a sentry going to rest after a watch. His answer contained a trace of sarcasm and impatience at being thus disturbed.

"Red Moon talks like a woman! Would that this hand had struck Awena dead," he grunted with a low brutal laugh. "Then her braid would hang at this belt, and the bow-cord of Mokuyi also!"

"Great ones above grant all wishes," muttered the blanketed figure, ... ing something forth in the fire-glow. The better to see it, the savage rose on one arm.

Quick as a flash, a thin noose fell about his neck, sealing the cruel laughter in that swelling throat.

As the Indian writhed in the death-struggle, silent as a decapitated viper, he stuck blindly with drawn knife, stabbing Kioga twice through the muscle beside the neck close to the jugular. The thrashing legs kicked out, awakening two other savages, whose yells aroused the whole camp into a fever of wildest confusion.

Still at advantage by reason of blanket and paint, Kioga sped towards the fire, above which dangled his only means of escape. A brave who had stirred the embers to a blaze and looked upon the dead face of Red Moon, turned and saw the Snow Hawk's bounding approach. In an instant his eye pierced that hasty disguise. Too quickly for accuracy, his axe hurled at the head of the imposter, missed, and felled a Long Knife beyond.

As he reached for his club, he was enveloped in a whirling blanket and knocked headlong into the fire, plunging the camp into black darkness, under the cover of which an active batlike shadow vanished unseen up the face of the cliff.

When again the scattered embers of fire were gathered and blown into flames the leaders of that punitive party looked into each others' eyes, and found that awe and fear had replaced anger and the grim determination to kill. Four of their warriors lay dead, one by their own tomahawk. A fifth struggling to cast off the blazing blanket, was too badly burned to count upon in an emergency.

Among the savage traitors it came to be asked in bated tones:

"Who will be next to wear the chaplet of death?"

Terrible though his vengeance was, the quick and painless end he meted to his own enemies was merciful compared with the diabolical tortures which awaited him in the event of his own capture.

Ironically it was Hawk who fought on the side of justice and law against the forces of conspiracy whose existence threatened the present Indian government headed by Sawamic. Yet so carefully had the Society's activities been concealed none but its own members knew of its existence. As a result, in found himself pitted against practically every able-bodied warrior in Hopeka, with whom he had many brushes.

One dusk he had found him taking his ease in his canoe, upon one of the smaller lakes draining into the Hiwassee, when, with the quiet of floating things, two canoes materialized several hundred yards to his north. Each bore four warriors.

The scout canoes were within bowshot and ranging inshore between the Snow Hawk and safety before he realized his danger, for now, behind them, the powerfully manned convoy-canoes forged into view. He could not turn ashore without crossing the prows of the first canoes too close for safety; nor could he head for the opposite shore without inviting instant chase by the greyhounds of the river — the long-boats. His only recourse was a straightaway dash for the Hiwasi, to the south, a dash upon which he was well embarked before that familiar and expected yell of menace announced his discovery.

Then came the resonant twang of a bow and the quick hiss of an arrow striking the water with a splash ahead. Another bow-cord vibrated, and this time a bright copper triangle darted out from under the skin of Kioga's arm, near the shoulder, stabbing through the flesh and skewering the limb before he realized he was hit.

CHAPTER XIII

A quick backward glance showed the long-boats swiftly overhauling him, with several of the warriors taking aim and a covey of arrows already in flight. In that fractional instant, without panic but with the swiftness of desperation, Snow Hawk took to river. Arrows hailed about him and riddled the canoe's bottom. Kioga sank with two arrows in him, but with wits unimpaired, and he at once turned under water, swimming in a direction least to be expected by the Koshoni—straight toward his pursuers, by the reflected light of whose bow-torches he could judge their location without coming to the surface.

Luckily the last war-canoes were over and past him before he had come up for air, which he took quickly and sank, striking out again toward the trade canoes. The wooden shaft of one arrow hampered the use of his arm, while the deep-buried point of the other in his thigh gave him excruciating pain with each movement of the leg; but with bursting lungs he kept on.

Gratefully he saw the vast shadow of one of the trade canoes and came up under its stern with a stealth that taxed his last ounce of lung-strength. In the clamor being made by the Indians, he breathed freely without fear of discovery.

Where they had ridden down his overturned canoe, the warriors were still probing the depths with lances and poising those river-spears, shaped like boathooks, ready, if possible, to take him alive.

In the respite thus gained, Kioga's first concern was to remove the hampering barb from his arm, breaking it silently beneath the water and drawing out both ends of the shaft. Nothing less than the cold steel of his knife could remove the other point buried in his thigh—steel which was now engaged in an operation of a very different kind.

"THE CAMOSUN"

Vol. VIII, No. 3

SOME LADS FROM "VIC HIGH" came in to get an "Ad" for their paper . . . "The Camosun." Likeable fellows, enthusiastic & smart, and while at this school . . . playing THEIR part. Doing THEIR bit, on their school's behalf, advertising . . . and on the editorial staff. Perhaps little aware in their present atmosphere, they might be starting in . . . on a future career. It'll get in their blood, they'll want to write (all people are crying to be given more light). And so I predict, that all these young lads, will wind up as editors . . . or writing ads. Full of excitement, their life will be packed, & it's not a prediction . . . but an actual fact. Because in the "CAMOSUN" . . . as 'twas known in my day, Mr. Bruce Hutchinson's name . . . was on display. In Vol. VIII, No. 3, his name can be seen, in the January issue . . . of nineteen-sixteen. As an associate editor, business manager too, and with Beta Delta . . . he had more to do. Just like YOU students, HIS part he did play, and you all know where . . . HE IS TODAY. Probably the greatest writer . . Canada has known, and Victoria claims him for his own. And 'twas ON "THE CAMOSUN" his inspiration came, which has blossomed to fullness . . . & to fame. And a lot of others, success have won, who served on Vol. VIII . . . No. 3 . . . "THE CAMOSUN." Their names I see in front of me here, here's one a Judge . . . here's an engineer.

ALUMINUM SLAT Venetian Blinds . . . aluminum with baked enamel finish . . . Can we send our man out to give an (exact) estimate? . . He'll come back and install them too.

"VIC HIGH" just seems the other day . . . Mathematics caused me a longer stay. 'Twas mathematics, they bothered me plenty. "Oh . . . Oh . . . WHAT'S THIS . . . here on page twenty? It's a cut of a newsboy, artistically planned and the heading beside . . . was called "The Newsstand." And whatta-u-know, WHO starts the first line, I'll be darned if it is ISN'T . . . a "pome" of mine. And so you can see, girls & lads, MY future, when YOUR age . . . was in writing ads. Altho this "pome" which I gotta cut short, was rather sad . . . of a different sort. And you might agree, my present gait, was a whole lot better . . . in this Vol. 8. Whether or not, this was so, you be the judge . . . here we go.

SONG OF THE CANADIANS

"Give us a song," the Canadian cried,
The forward trenches guarding
When the smoking rifles of the forces allied,
Grew weary of bombarding

There was a pause,—a sentinel said,
"We charge the trenches tomorrow
Sing while we may, for another day,
May bring enough of sorrow."

They all crouched low in their trenches deep,
Beneath the bright stars gay
But never a one had a thought of sleep,
Their hearts were far away.

They sang of love, but not of fame,
And forgot was Canada's glory,
Each boy thought of a different name,
But they all sang, "Annie Laurie."

Army, Navy, Air Force Veterans End Session

—Colonist Photos

Find Most Stolen Cigarettes In Case Involving Five Charges

City detectives have recovered a majority of the cigarettes stolen from Balmoral Grocery, 1024 Finlayson Street, last Saturday night, Inspector Harry Mercer, chief of city detectives, said yesterday.

Inspector Mercer would not say where the loot was found. He said 120 of the 180 packages of cigarettes stolen have been located.

A quantity of chocolates and chocolate bars has not been found, and it is presumed they have been consumed.

Detectives Norman Bath and Alex Briggs have been investigating the breaking and entering for the city detective department.

Five persons, two of them juveniles, have been charged with entering and committing theft in the store.

Thomas Francis Buckle, 117 Cook Street, pleaded guilty to the charge in city police court yesterday.

Sinclair Elliott, counsel for Buckle, asked for a remand so he could have time to obtain character witnesses. Magistrate Hall remanded Buckle to Tuesday.

Jack Kane and Frank Cross, who have pleaded guilty to similar charges, were remanded to Thursday so a report can be obtained from the probation officer.

James Esson, who Wednesday pleaded guilty to a charge of assaulting Elizabeth Allen, 958 Balmoral Road, was fined $5 or to default five days in jail.

Ralph W. Harvey, 2731 Rose Street, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a car while his licence was under suspension, and was fined $50.

Chest X-Ray Survey Begins November 1

STARTING date of the anti-tuberculosis program has been changed to November 1 instead of October 15 as first planned, Col. J. Nelson Gibson, chairman of the Greater Victoria Chest X-Ray Survey Committee, announced yesterday.

First residential district for the X-ray will be Victoria West, where the Parent-Teacher Association is ready to start a canvas about October 21. Mrs. H. Holroyd is in charge there. Every home will be asked to take advantage of the offer of free X-ray services to all persons 15 years old and over.

Five parent-teacher groups have agreed to undertake this work, Col. Gibson said, and the committee expects to hear soon from three other groups to complete organization of residential work.

Accused Youth Must Face Trial

Jack Hansen, aged 17, charged in city police court with rape, was committed for trial by Magistrate H. C. Hall after a preliminary hearing yesterday.

The offence is alleged to have taken place on the night of September 25 near a trail leading to Lime Bay in the Inner Harbor.

Veterans By-Pass Conscription Issue

Delegates by-passed the conscription issue but approved sale of margarine in Canada, building of a Trans-Canada highway and reimposition of price controls at the lively concluding sessions of the three-day Dominion convention of Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada here yesterday.

Despite unanimous opposition of Prairie delegates, they also suggested that the embargo be restored on cattle shipments to the United States.

Delegates supported J. H. MacLeod, Vancouver, chairman of the resolutions committee, when he contended the resolution advocating conscription, submitted by the Edmonton unit, should not be put to a vote.

A few minutes later they endorsed another resolution that termed "archaic" the present method of armed forces recruiting, and called for improved recruiting methods and revision of education requirements.

TOO COSTLY

"The people of Canada are generally of the opinion that any form of compulsory service or conscription during peace-time is not indicated," the preamble stated.

The margarine resolution claimed that "the present cost of butter has placed this commodity beyond the reach of those in the lower income brackets."

It appealed to the Dominion Government to permit "manufacture, importation and sale of oleomargarine and other butter substitutes under Government regulation."

The convention heartily approved a resolution submitted by the Victoria unit that urged immediate completion of a Trans-Canada highway. The Dominion Government should bear the cost, the resolution added.

Delegates passed two resolutions calling for reimposition of price controls, both submitted by British Columbia units. The contentious one also asked for return of the cattle embargo.

When the resolution was put to a vote, every Prairie delegate rose and asked to be recorded against it.

Among other resolutions was one welcoming Newfoundland to Confederation, and inviting Newfoundland veterans to membership in the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada.

Altogether the 200 delegates passed more than 70 resolutions Thursday and yesterday. On their first day, Wednesday, they confined their activities to preliminary business.

The Ladies' Auxiliary met by itself yesterday and passed a resolution asking the Dominion Government to give more consideration to widows of veterans.

Last evening delegates wound up the convention with a banquet and dance in the Empress Hotel. Among special guests at the banquet was R. C. MacDonald, Provincial Minister of Mines and Municipalities.

The next convention will meet in 1950.

Car, Firearms Lead to Fines

Donald E. Turner, H.M.C.S. Ontario, was fined $25, $2.50 costs and had his driver's licence suspended for two months in Provincial Police court yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving.

The charge arose out of an accident on Admirals Road. No other car was involved.

Peter Johnston, found guilty of carrying a loaded firearm in a car, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

A juvenile was fined $15 and $2.50 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying an unplugged pump gun

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

THAT WORD "PANTOMIME"

The reader who asks for the origin of the word "pantomime" defines this as "acting without words." Webster's definition of it, in the modern sense with which we are familiar, is similar, only less concise: "A dramatic representation by actors who use only dumb show, hence, dumb show, generally."

From the Greek word meaning "all imitating" came the Latin pantomimus, whence our word "pantomime." The element of imitation words of a historian of the period, or mimicry remained the word's "the pantomimus, in which the special meaning for centuries on the actor only gesticulated, without speaking."

An interesting aspect of this word in the special meaning of its Latin parent, the "Pantomimus," in Rome.

While ancient Greece supplied a gayer, Robertson Hall a few days willing audience for the great drama before her death recently at the and significant comedy, the Roman age of 109 that "it's nice to live taste was of a more robust nature, long." She claimed to be the oldest living. The people of the Republic and, at least the early Empire enjoyed a humble.
